CENTENNIAL ESSAY

My Responsibility As A Canadian

DOUGLAS McPHERSON

It is fitting that in Centennial Year much be said concerning the individual duties of Canadian citizens and how these duties relate to the Canadian community. The nation is somewhat like a factory because in both cases output depends upon commmon denominators. First, one must assess the input, the bulk and type of materials which are assembled before manufacturing begins. Secondly, considerable must be given to the amount of work used in transforming raw goods into commercial commodities. Increasingly obvious is the fact that Canada abounds with all the resources that a civilized country could desire, but what comes of our fortune depends upon us who live here. Our zenith, our peak of productivity, can be realized only when all thinking citizens are prepared to make the proper decision on Canada's behalf.

Then, as I see it, my first and foremost responsibilities are simply to decide the nature and extent of my duties; keeping these in mind, to delve deeply into the pros and cons of any issue before deciding one way or the other; to act accordingly if the opportunity presents itself; or at any rate, to let my opinions be known; and, finally, to decide what personal qualities will most help and hinder my country. Collectively, these decisions shape our future, determine the mark we leave, and decide ultimately whether our contribution is one of mediocrity or perfection.

The worst enemies of a democratic society are those who tell us that what we think, say, or do, does not matter. As a Canadian I am bound to stress through words and actions that the individual is important. "But," I hear someone mutter, "the Government charts our course. You talk about wishywashy ideas of the mind. When I change my stand on a question Canada won't turn inside out."

Exactly. My ideas must be backed by efforts to make them understand. They may influence others or they may not; the important thing is that my responsibilities — these as constant as time itself — are carried out. French philosopher Antoine de Saint Exupery had much the same idea in mind when he wrote, "To be a man is to be responsible. It is to feel, when setting one's stone, that one is contributing to the building of the world." In 1967 Canada's major problems are results of misunderstandings and a tendency to let prejudice and apathy carry the day. I say that if misguided thinking can solve our problems, guided thinking can solve them. It is in the individual mind that responsibility begins.

My obligations do not cease to exist at the Canadian border. Usually a country is not judged on the basis of politics and economics except by politicians and economists. This being true, every Canadian abroad should reflect the best of our nation. In this sense we are all ambassadors and it is my responsibility to see that those with whom I have contact obtain a favourable impression of Canadian people. I must remember that I cannot build my own country by tearing apart another; if I unduly ridicule a foreign people many would-be friends in that land will scoff right back.

Within Canada my outlook should be pan-Canadian, extending from sea to sea. Nationalism in this land is often equated with blind, narrow faith by so-called realists whose near-fanatic attempt to drag our future into the muck proclaims them as pessimists of the worst sort. Some people feel it natural to cherish citizenship in town or province above the one real standard which sets them apart from any other member of the human race. In the minds of others Canada's lot rises and falls endlessly on the changing tides of personal fortune. "Great tobacco crop this year," they say. "The country's in fine shape." At the same time, though, in North Twilingate, Newfoundland . . . "The price for cod has dropped ag'in! What a mess the country's in." Through study of things Canadian, through travel around this country and by keeping an open mind about me, I feel certain that I can grasp the kernel of Canadian identity to my own satisfaction. This done, it is my obligation to convince those who are under the impression that it does not exist.

Certainly there are problems in Canada — many of them. But in criticizing our shortcomings I must keep asking, "Are you aiming at the solution or are you merely becoming part of the problem?" Apathy breeds apathy while pessimism just breed pessimism. When I feel inclined to laugh at our many characteristic foibles, it should be with the gentle laughter of Leacock, not the harsh mocking which seems to gush forth inexorably from some media.

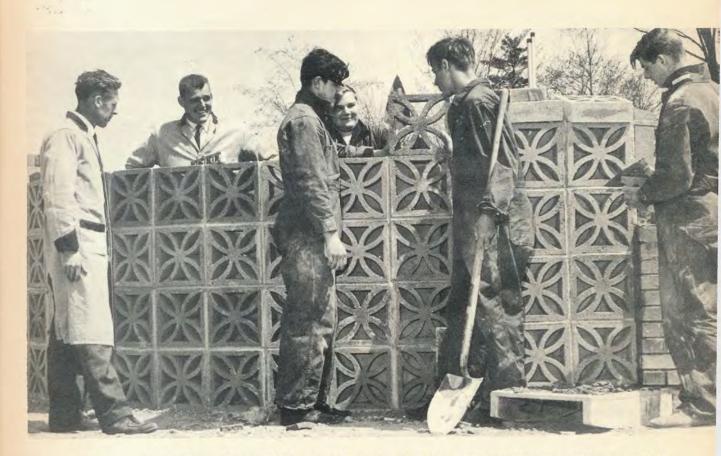

I have neither the room nor the patience to set out a comprehensive list of my various responsibilities. I have considered human qualities rather than the specifics such as political duties and military obligations in time of war. In case you have not noticed, my ideas have been based on premises which are in accordance with today's problems; apathy and narrow minds are things of today, but selfishness and blind nationalism may replace the significance of human attributes that can carry out my overall responsibility. For only then can I see those concrete duties which face me as conditions change, on whatever road I take, however large my sphere of influence may be. Overall responsibility calls for and relies upon these basic qualities, the greatest of which are awareness, foresight, and idealism.

Awareness so that I may see in what direction my obligation lies. Awareness which plucks from the commonplace a glimpse of what it means to be a Canadian . . .

Foresight so that I can see where our future exists. Foresight which tells that what is now, does not have to be forever . . .

Idealism which transforms problems into challenges, rips away the guise of unused potential to reveal boundless opportunity.

CENTENNIAL PROJECT

An ambitious centennial project for Glendale is a masonry centennial gateway which will form a permanent entry to the school grounds. A suitable engraved plaque will be added.

The project was a co-operative effort. Mr. H. Neumann drew the plans, various student activities were instituted to raise funds for materials, and vocational students, under the supervision of Mr. G. Miller (technical director) and Mr. R. Kriense Lokker, completed the task.

It is hoped that the gateway will help to imbue future Glendale students with a deeper appreciation of Centennial Year.

An Irreverent History Of Glendale

Most people would consider Glendale as representative of just another school. This is faintly understandable I suppose, but today there are living millions — well, thousands anyway — of people who violently disagree with this slighting evaluation. This is Glendale. Roll the word on your tongue. Sounds good, doesn't it. This famous institution, its site and its historical connections make it unique in all the world. In order to drive the point home in no uncertain terms, this mind-expanding work was commissioned by editors of the ANNONA.

Glendale's history has been a bright and glorious one. It is highly fitting that the building was constructed on a location which has numerous historical contacts of importance, starting in . . . . 1,000,000 B.C. — covered with water along with the rest of the hemisphere.

- 21,000-7,000 B.C. the Ice Ages pass by on at least three separate occasions. That's a thrilling thought. Nowadays however, we can't even get enough winter weather to close the place for a day or two.
- A.D. The first real live honest-Injun Indian happens upon the spot, naming it Taktookituko in honour of his blood-brother, Tak. In later years the football field became a favourite battle-ground (It still is.) so much so, in fact, that a warpath was pushed through only a scant twenty miles away.
- 1608 Champlain fails to discover the now-famous site of Glendale as he journeys south to fight the Iroquois. In fact, records prove that most famous Canadian explorers didn't come across these hallowed grounds. This is now regarded as a remarkable coincidence. Many Indians passed down the creek, marvelling at the awesome nature of the mud cliffs at the back. Evidently they weren't talking, something for which we must be eternally thankful. If the French had settled here, we would now be students of "Vallonvallee Ecole Haute."
- 1822 That immortal adventurer, George Tillson, visits the student parking lot, at once recognizing the significance of his discovery. "Come hither, boys," he spake at his men. "Lookit yon glen and yon dale." You will see the importance of this comment. From that moment forth the words "glen" and "dale" became synonymous. The "G" has been capitalized.
- 1950's Certain Tillsonburgers experience grand visions of a school to be built on Glendale's grounds. After much discussion plans are laid to build Glendale on this piece of land, a decision which was most appropriate.
- 1959 Glendale opens at Christmas. By Easter things have settled down. Green and gold are chosen as our school colours. Then comes the task of finding an animal to represent the new institution. No one creature was deemed symbolic enough. The students resort to Greek mythology and find just the thing the Griffin, a fabled animal with the body and legs of a lion, the wings and beak of an eagle, and pricked ears. That's not all. According to legend this fabulous figure always stands guard over treasure of some sort, in our case probably education. Ha. (Tillsonburg now abounds with Griffins. If you happen to catch sight of one from nine o'clock to three o'clock, Mondays to Fridays inclusive, please notify the school.) Mr. J. D. McPherson becomes principal of Glendale High, a position which he still holds. Just as the earth moves in its orbit around the sun, rotating once every 24 hours, slanted on a 66-degree angle, so does the life of Glendale revolve around our guiding light.

- 1962 Our junior boys basketball team wins the Tri-County war. Next year they give a repeat performance and, for an encore, win WOSSA (war of some schools annually) by dint of hard work and having the best team. Our boys squads have been hexed ever since. The girls have done much better, but that's another story and one which I don't wish to relate. The school grows with the addition of a new wing, in fact two (so that they'll balance each other.)
- 1964 This is a big year. It leaps. By now we are secure in the knowledge that scientia est actually vita in English as well as in Latin. A greenhouse is built for growing stuff in it. Our first Annona and our first variety night are produced, to be followed in later years by the second and third editions of each, in that order. By the end of the year our orchestra becomes an integral part of school life and is, by popular request, disbanded. Actually, Mister Tromp made the decision because a brass band breaks much less easily than an orchestra which is wooden.
- 1965 The forces of erosion are at work behind the school. Engineers estimate that by the year 3000 the bluffs will have eroded under Glendale itself, thus causing some problems. To stave off disaster a wire fence and some white rocks are put at the bottom of the gully. But to this day, during particularly tough weeks, students can still be seen to look out the back windows and exhort Mother Nature to get on with it.
- 1966 Garfield Glendale (heez such a funy felo) iz introdused to da skool. The status quo is kaputed with the election of our first woman prime minister.
- 1967 Glendale does its bit in the interest of world peace by disbanding her cadet corps, but from what we can see the earth is still in a mess. Centennial gates are built to commemorate Confederation. We face the future with new gates and a grade thirteen.
- 2067 By now that most familiar of all Glendale landmarks, that traditional meeting-place, will have disappeared. Archeologists, wishing to preserve those countless relics which have been dropped inadvertantly by students for more than a century will have moved the old Smoking Post, intact, to the Royal Ontario Museum.

  DOUG McPHERSON, 5A-12A

A Message From the Principal

MR. J. D. McPHERSON Principal

This year we've reached a goal! One Hundred Years of Canada! I can only say that this year has been a truly Centennial one at Glendale with the Variety Show, the Open House, the Expo Trip, all related in some way or other with the Centennial theme.

Once more the composite nature of our school has been shown by the Centennial gates and the chocolate bar drive.

But . . . now comes the time for us to look ahead to the future. The future of this country demands our graduates breathe the air of challenge and be exhilarated to move towards new destinations and goal — goals that are new to this generation, but are linked to the challenges of the past that were overcome by the discovery of new facts by youth with insight and zeal.

Upon the untried way that he must tread, So that he savour the breath of life to the uttermost, Breathe only sweet when all is hazarded. "The Airman."

To you, the graduates, I do not wish an easy future, but a challenging one. To you, whose ancestors have given a country, I wish you the courage and the vision to make it a great one. To you who have been given an education, I wish you the desire to use it to help others.

Why? Because only thus do I feel that you will obtain "the breath of life to the uttermost." The dream of Canada will be the reality of the future, and Centennial Year, 1967, will be the beginning of the new and better era.

May you look back in future years to your time at Glendale as fun-filled, inspiring years, and may this edition of the ANNONA, the work of Larry and Anna Lyn and their staff, be once more a "Harvest of Memories" for you and all the rest of the student body.

A Message From the Chairman of the Board

Education is a lot of things. It is not just a matter of learning out of books and passing examinations. The word means "drawing out" or developing the mind and character of a person. This development is greatly aided by learning, but also by responsibility, by working and even by playing with others, by all our contacts with people and projects and the whole community in which we live. The more active a roll one plays in the community or the milieu in which he finds himself the more likely and more rapidly is his development to progress.

We members of your school board feel that all of the extra curricula subjects, projects and activities of your school life are very important to your development. The preparation and publication of "The Annona" is not the least of these. We congratulate all who participated in this project. It is worthwhile now in your education and it will prove worthwhile in the years to come in the memories it will help to keep alive.

H. D VERHOEVE Chairman of the Tillsonburg District High School Board.

A Message From the Vice-Principal

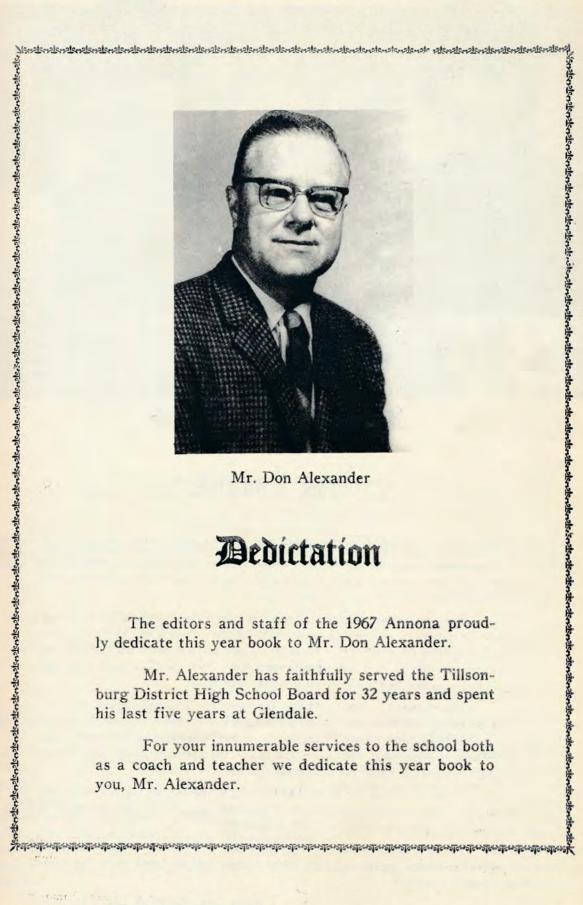

MR. D. G. ANDERSON Vice-Principal Office Staff: Mrs. G. Williams, Mrs. C. Humphrey

Once again it is a pleasure to be able to write a few words for the Annona. I want first to congratulate the year book staff for the excellence of the year book this year. Their perseverance and hard work has resulted in a finished product that should be a source of pride to them. Of course, the year book could not be a success without the co-operation of all the students of Glendale. The students who participated in the various activities of the school have also made their contribution to its success. To all of you, I extend my congratulations for a job well done.

This year has been a satisfying one for Glendale. Our students have acquitted themselves well on the sports field, speaking platform and stage. Canada's Centennial has not passed unmarked by Glendale High School. As our centennial project the school is erecting ornamental gates at the entrance to the school's drive. These gates have been expertly designed and erected by the staff advisors and boys of the Vocational Department and are a fitting symbol of our school's productivity.

In closing I would like to wish the graduates and indeed, all Glendale students, good fortune in their chosen endeavours of the future. It has been a pleasure for me to have been associated with you during the past two years.

CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM

As a young school there are many areas in the extra curricular field in need of development. Last year some Glendalians decided to tackle the here-tofore unexploited cross-country potential. The pioneers were — Mr. J. N. Scott and sixteen students. After two short weeks of practice Glendale entered the Tri-County meet at Woodstock. Their minimal preparation was belied by the outstanding performance of the Seniors, who placed third. The Junior and Intermediate teams showed their spirit and determination in their game, if unsuccessful, participation at this event.

Shortly after Tri-County the Glendale Cross-Country Club entered the W.O.S.S.A. races at Arva. All the boys showed their ability as a competitive new club. The W.O.S.S.A. tournament ended the short season for the Cross Country teams.

Aspects for the future are promising. A new event will be added in the Tri-County in school track and field competition. This event is an open two mile race. Next year always brings new hope and so it will in the opening season for the Cross-Country competitions for Glendale in 1967-1968.

ONTARIO ATHLETIC LEADERSHIP CAMP

Every year one boy and one girl from nearly every school in Ontario are chosen to attend Ontario Athletic Leadership Camp at Lake Couchiching. There are two girls' camps in July and two boys' camps in August. Each camp term lasts two weeks and they are the best two weeks that anyone can spend.

There are approximately one hundred and forty teenage girls, twenty counsellors and a group of buildings situated on beautiful grounds in Northern Ontario. The site is divided into two sections, hillside and lakeside, each of which consists of six cabins with twelve girls in each. A counsellor is assigned to each cabin. The counsellors are high school physical education teachers and some of the nicest people I have ever met.

You are first given what the girls call a "dog tag" as you enter the administration building. From then on you are no longer called by your name, but by a certain number.

Your first day is Orientation Day. The entireday is spent doing a number of different activities that are available for your use for the next two weeks. The sports available are Folk Dancing, Tennis, Badminton, Gymnastics, Aquatics, Basketball, Archery, Track Field, Field Hockey, and Volley Ball. The core programme in which everyontakes part includes Folk Dancing, Basketball and Aquatics. You have a choice of two options, taking the first for one week and the second for the other week.

Sports did not take up all the time, for the pu pose of the camp is to train girls to take part inteaching different sports and to develop leadership qualities so that they take back with them to their high schools newly learned ideas and skills. Therefore three hours of each day is spent in leadership classes.

Campfires, tournaments, and a variety of programmes are the night life of O.A.L.C.

Each day starts at 7:30 and ends at 10:30. It is a long and tedious day packed full of work but the excitement, fun, and the wonderful friends you meet overpower the former to make the two weeks fly by rapidly leaving you with many wonderful memories.

BOYS' SPORTS

The sports scene at Glendale has been, from an overall viewpoint anyway, just about a carbon copy of the picture put across in many recent years - lots of hard work, plenty of optimism in most cases, but still no pennants. Once again our boys returned home from their long-standing quest for League honours empty-handed and more than a little frustrated. The sense of let-down applied particularly to the senior football and basketball squads whose strengths rested largely on past experience for it's a fact that both those teams were products of two or three seasons. Each sported a will to win that could only have emerged from previous comradeship and for them especially the end of the season came all too soon,

There's another side to the coin and lest these words be mistaken for a funeral oration of some kind, I'd better make mention of it now. The sports schedule was only a poor one in that we didn't win for the umpteenth year in a row. Actually, on a standings basis our showings weren't all that bad (although junior football was a notable exception) and they will likely stimulate future hopes in spite of what the players may have said after their last disappointing games. That for the benefit of future years is the way things shaped up in 1966-67.

This was a year in which the junior G shirts were upset, often snowballed, on every in the league. "Pointless" is the best way to cribe the action; in the entire season we col only one touchdown. Perhaps this jinx might been expected since the summer try-outs few recruits with any experience. Naturally, the string of goose-eggs got going, the down ride picked up momentum each successive but although some despair was voiced, this not indicative of the squad's collective att They were able to laugh at themselves and pushing, to show that they're made of the kind of stuff at any rate. For the team men who were playing in uniform for the first time assua fall was a dismal introduction to the sport. It : be hoped that one bad start won't stop them enjoying other years.

I don't think that its possible to attach of the adjectives "weak" or "strong" to the Griffs because they were both, often in the game. After a poor start, the Greenmen came this y their own with a couple additional players, the w notably Gary DeWaele who excelled in field thoug and punting in general. Pass plays proved obtain ineffective in the first couple games but after A ma they suddenly began taking their toll. The g on the play around the end was an outstanding ace once again with Dave Dodsley lugging the pigskin in most cases. There's not a doubt that our defensive line was one of the most formidable that we have come up with of late. So what happened? For one thing we were late in realizing our potential which can be fatal in a short schedule. Then too, there was a certain encounter with STCI which by all rights (except the one that goes 'The team with the most points wins') should have been ours. Being beaten on the last play of the game by a field-long passand-run combination is an experience few of them ever wish to relive. The loss probably served to knock the stuffing out of the boys, or so it appeared. Coming home after the final game had ended in defeat many of the players said they wouldn't play again. Somehow I couldn't help feeling that I'd seen this same cheerless scene and heard those same words once or twice before.

Fortunately, three months of basketball easily assuaged the sagging spirits of our spectators. The junior club ended up about halfway down the ladder in final standings, this being a giant step forward from the disastrous 1965-66 series in which we didn't win a game. The junior Griffs were never overwhelmed in any encounter that I can remember. Team play meant a lot to the boys this year; most spectators were at once struck by the way in which our players worked together although it was well known that many of them had obtained some useful experience in Public School. A majority will be back in uniform next autumn on the basis of their past record I think we can predict a fine year for them.

In September, it was quite apparent that the student body looked to the senior basketball squad to provide the year's greatest sports triumph. These assumptions were not unfounded. The lineup WAS as close to a guaranteed success as Glendale has had within five years. Practice, the services of some top individual players headed by Chris Coulthard who averaged about 25 points a game, experience, and even more important, experience playing together - these were the four general ingredients which underwrote the team's battle towards the top. The fight was never won, but if there was any real disappointment in this it stemmed from the simple fact that the boys considered themselves capable of having done better. It's highly likely that these thoughts were justified; after a second-place finish in the 6-team Western League, they were ousted from the finals by the Simcoe squad whom they had drubbed previously in an exhibition game. This unexpected heartbreak may be put down to a number of factors, not the last of which was that Simcoe became a decidedly better team when her Tri-County chances were at stake. Over-confidence may have baited the trap, for the Griffs showed themselves susceptible to small doses of it all during the year although it did little harm to their regular standings. Whatever the reason, a great majority of the student body agreed with Coach Coyle when he said that it was the best senior squad in Glendale's history.

Individualist sports seem to be on the upsurge once again, wrestling and track and field being the two standouts. Mr. Masterson has done a fine job of establishing the former activity at Glendale during the past two seasons. There seems to be no lack of interest in the club, either on the part of new prospects or by spectators. Crowds turned out in increasingly large numbers to watch the home tourneys. Congratulations must be extended to Earl Cooper whose agility won for him a first in Tri-County competition.

For a number of years now it has been popular to watch for glimmerings of renewed interest in track and field. Finally, they've come, I know that this has been said before often enough and subsequently proved wrong. However the success of both the Track Club and the Track and Field Meet can lead to no other conclusion. Not having been strong at Glendale of late, the sport will benefit by continued stress on establishing a solid school basis to replace or in addition to the old concept of an annual Glendale - Annandale meet. It isn't inconceivable that the inter-school match has been a discouraging factor for it's common knowledge that the Marauders have always had top individual material to run against us. For the time being we must be content on encouraging larger participation as "big guns" in the sport are scarce; if you had the choice between quality and quantity you'd choose quality. However, large numbers are indicative of interest and new interest can only produce more rewarding efforts in the future.

At the end of the season we look towards oncoming schedules and the challenges they will present. All schools do this but Glendale's case is singularly special for the introduction of Grade 13 raises our speculation above presumption. The move can only help us. Annandale has been reaping a harvest of our best senior players at the peak of their potential. We have done well despite this extraordinary handicap but September will spell a turning-point welcomed by players, coaches and the entire student body. The senior football and basketball teams will both benefit although the change will not be entirely beneficial as applied to next season because of the loss of students and players from the Commercial course, 1967-68 will be an interesting year to watch and, we have reason to hope, a more rewarding one all round.

BOYS' TRACK AND FIELD RESULTS

The spring track meet, held for the first time this year, will likely, judging from its first success become an annual event. Entry sheets were full with signatures soon after they went up in the dressing room and both coaches expressed surprise in the unanticipated turn-out. Track and Field hasn't been stressed at all in recent years so that our participation in Tri-County will likely meet with only limited success for a while. But apparently there are far more enthusiasts who are willing to give it a go than one would have thought previous to the meet. It's a good sign.

To Our Advertisers

The ANNONA staff would like to extend their sincere thanks to the businessmen and merchants of Tillsonburg and the Tri-County area who helped make this book possible. ## Girls' Sports

Again for another year in Glendale the halls have been silenced for two months. As we look back we find that in the past ten months they have seen enough activity to justify this test.

Let me begin my short resume of this year's girls' sports activities. First of all I must congratulate the girls volleyball teams - both senior and junior. Although they made their well earned way to T.C.C. volleyball they were defeated after hard fought battles. That is why next year we are looking forward to the championship team since we have the strength and will power to get it for us.

Let us not forget the cheer leaders who under this year's capable hands of Miss Piper and the captain Marg Germuska helped cheer Linda Hennessey on to her Miss Tri-County Cheerleader trophy. Also votes of thanks go to the other cheerleaders who cheered our boys on to many victories.

Further along in the year Cathie Carle and Grace Clark journeyed to Tri-County Badminton championships without recognition. It is for this reason I feel they should be congratulated on their fine effort put forth. Maybe next year will show a greater interest in this skillful sport. Thanks girls!

The gymnastics club under the guidance of Mr. Masterson gave a fine exhibition this year at the Variety Night and in regard should receive a hearty "Well Done."

Seeing as time is running out and you probab have an engagement at the lake I shall begin to e this review. Along with a fine Senior and Jun girls' basketball team who tried their hardest whi wasn't quite good enough we wish them their be for the new season of '67-'68.

A special note goes to the Interform Senior by ketball teams. A tie occurred between 4B-11B a 5A-12A. Seeing as this game wasn't finished the bie was no time to have a write-up. So to these girl Lor congratulate them and hope they had fun dur The competitions.

Last but not least is the track club. As this w one of the last organizations of the year, the am Mr tion had decreased. We are hoping for a big wh and better team next year. So Good Luck.

Along with the girls who participate in spo individually as players and for the school's na itself we tend to forget the backbone of this h unified skeleton. This backbone is, of cour the coaches. Without their guidance, instruct and precious time none of this section of the ye book would be possible. I just hope they have joyed coaching as much as we have learning. to the girls, teams, coaches and supporters of 1966-67 season I congratulate you. To the 1967 was teams, coaches, supporters "Best Wishes" for score coming year.

JUNIOR GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Although we worked hard learning the new rules and doing our (gulp) hands up drill, the junior girls team won only one out of six games. But we all have to admit that we had fun trying.

Our games and the results were as follows:

Bunto and the results were as
Glendale at Aylmer	16	-	8
Glendale at Simcoe	9	-	15
Annandale at Glendale	14	-	9
Aylmer at Glendale	25	-	9
Glendale at Annandale	24	-	11
Simcoe at Glendale	22	-	21

The team was made up of the following: Debbie Sitts, Pat Byrnes, Trish Nagy, Kathleen Smith, Louise Lockstein, Bonnie Williams, Mary Lou Thompson, Leslie Wallace, Linda Burn, Myrna Chamberlain, and Marlene Barrie.

On behalf of the team, I would like to thank Mrs. Vandewiele for coaching us and also those who came out and supported us at the games.

MARLENE BARRIE, 5A-11A

SENIOR GIRLS' BASKETBALL

"You can't win them all" goes a famous quote, but our senior girls did try and came out with three victories to three losses.

The season got underway with a few exhibition games to test our mettle. Our first league game was played in Simcoe and true to form Glendale scored a victory 28-25. The girls from Annandale were our next opponents but we came out of that game on the wrong end of the score board 34-23.

We travelled to Aylmer with high hopes but had them dashed when we were beaten 31-26. Determined not to be defeated by Annandale again, we outscored them 38-25. We then tried our luck with Aylmer, but again went down in defeat to this team. Simcoe girls were our last conquest when we trounced them 38-17. So ended our season.

We would like to extend our sincere gratitude to Mrs. Vandewiele for all the work she did in coaching the team. Mr. O'Rourke also deserves credit for the advice and pointers he gave to us. ANNA LYN CARDY 5A-12A

Thank You From the Editors

We, the editors of the 1967 Annona, would like to extend our appreciation and thanks to all those who made the publishing of this book possible. Without the co-operation and time received from Mr. Kuhl, the office staff, and Mrs. Oatman's typing classes, we still would not have the yearbook.

The students also took great interest in this project by their submission of pictures and articles about sports and activities. Our advertising committee did a tremendous job. Again, we thank you.

Student Parliament

This year's Student Council activities began with the traditional council party campaigns and speeches. The "G.A.G.G.", the "Jailbirds", and the "Toegroes" ran for the honoured Council positions. The positions were filled by: Chris Coulthard as Deputy - Prime Minister; Betty Foreman and Christine Howard as Ministers of Social Affairs; Lucy Middleton as Minister of Finance; Andrew Baxter as Minister of Publicity; Marlene Barrie and Jackie Carroll as Girl's Athletic Association; Ted Carmichael and George Wiltshire as Boy's Athletic Association; and Grace Clark as Prime Minister.

I can't begin to express enough thanks to the competent assistance given by Mr. O'Rourke. Mr. O'Rourke always was near at hand and ready with new and exciting ideas that a Student Council needs. On behalf of the Student Council I would like to thank Mr. O'Rourke for all the time he devoted to the Student Council. I would also like to thank Mrs. Oatman for her help in the handling of the finances of our Council.

Lastly I would like to thank those teachers and their wives who chaperoned dances and also those students who helped with the decorating and other Student Council activities.

Our Student Council expenditures were very high this year. We continued to support Zenaida Butulan, our foster child, of the Philippines. The annual cost of this child is $192. Three scholarships were given at the two commencements this year. The one at Annandale was honouring a former Glendale student who was considered to have contributed much to Glendale and still received good marks at Annandale in Grade XIII. The United Nations club was sent to Brantford for the annual seminar held there and the wrestling team was given uniforms. These are only a few expenses of the Council. One major expense was the Centennial Project but as everyone can see it will be well worth the time and money spent in the construction of the new entrance to the school. Special thanks goes to the students and teachers who have been doing an excellent job of the project.

Another major expense was the Semi-Formal, "The Loveliest Night of the Year." Much time, energy and money is spent on this dance but all is repaid in honour on the night of the dance.

This year for the first time the Student Council held a few assemblies. The number wasn't as great as we anticipated but we hope it was a beginning to having an assembly every month. This, we hope, will keep students informed of what the council is doing from month to month.

A competition between the classes for the best food display to be donated to the needy at Christmas, the selling of Christmas cards, school sweaters and blazers, Christmas Assembly, car wash, selling chocolate bars, "slave day", dances, athletic assembly and banquet were some of the activities sponsored by the Student Council this year.

In closing I would like to thank this year's Council for their participation and co-operation in all our endeavours.

This year has been a rewarding experience and one that I will never forget.

The United Nations Club

This year's club finished with approximately fifteen regular members. Many of the newer members were from the junior grades and in future years we hope that they will continue this club at Glendale.

Meetings were to be held once every week, but with several activities coinciding at the same time, these meetings usually ended up with several sessions outside school time to prepare for the assemblies.

Our club was to study the functions of the different bodies of the United Nations and trouble spots in the world, however, much of the time was consumed in preparation for the various seminars.

The faculty advisor was Mr. Morling and positions were held as follows: Doug McPherson, President; Larry Innanen, Vice-president; Mary Hawkins, Secretary-General; and Elizabeth Moore, Secretary.

The first model United Nations assembly was convened at Annandale with about sixty-five countries being represented by students in the area. This was excellent experience for a larger seminar in Brantford at which Red China's admission to the United Nations was debated.

We hope more Glendale students will find interest in this club next year as it is a good opportunity to meet many members of other United Nations clubs, and to study this International Government.

U. N. MODEL ASSEMBLY

This year about fifteen students from Glendale participated in the Model U.N. Assembly in Brant ford. We left Glendale by bus at about 9:30 a.m on Friday, April 7, and arrived in Brantford a about 10:30. Until about 11:00 a.m. we spent the time finding out where we were to stay that night and generally getting acquainted with the host school, North Park. The afternoon was spent in the main debate — "Should Communist China be admitted to the United Nations?" We adjourned at about 4:30 and most people went home to their billets and to parties that night.

The next morning, Saturday, was spent participating in various committees on Viet Nam, Rhodesia, the Israeli - Jordan question, and the Economic and Social Committee. After lunch we went back to the General Assembly to debate on one of the resolutions presented by these committees. The one chosen was on Rhodesia — "That economic sanctions and/or force should be used to bring down the minority government." Again we adjourned at about 5:00 and returned to a banquet that night. There was also a dance held at Providence.

I think this Model Assembly was extremely interesting and educational, in that we learned a great deal about how the U.N., and governments in general, operate. Next year the U.N. Assembly is for the first time, being held away from Branford. Perhaps one year we may even be lucky enough to have it at Glendale.

AWARDS BANQUET

TO BECOME ANNUAL EVENT

In June, 1966, at the Hungarian Hall, the first academic-athletic awards banquet, co-ordinated by Mr. B. O'Rourke, was held to pay tribute to those who had made significant contributions to Glendale during school year 1965-66.

Among those honoured during the presentations were Mr. W. P. Kirkwood (superintendent of secondary education) and Mr. J. D. McPherson (Glendale principal) for their administrative competence.

Guest speaker was Mr. James Maloney, head basketball coach at the University of Niagara, Niagara Falls, N.Y.

THE BAND

The 55-piece Glendale - Annandale Band, under the very capable direction of Mr. Tromp, had a successful season for '66-'67.

The band was better than in past years owing to the number of instruments and weekly practices which were scheduled this season for the first time. We performed at the re-opening of Broadway, the football parade, and other school functions. The band went to Toronto and took part in the Kiwanis Music Festival and brought away with them a third place, only four marks lower than the winner of the class. At the end of the school term we hope to take part in some Centennial events.

The students participating in the band are from the grade ten to twelve level since in grade nine most music students learn only the basics of their instruments. We are hoping for a very successful year come next September with many newcomers taking part.

Expo 67 Trip

At 10:00 on May 7, a busload of Grade 12 Glendale students left for Expo '67, Montreal, Mr. Morling and Miss Chapman came along as chaperones although we assured them it was not necessary. We arrived at Montreal bright and early Monday morning to begin our two and one-half day visit to Expo '67. We saw as many pavilions as possible, but it was generally agreed that the Telephone Pavilion and the Labryrinth were the best. We spent our two nights in very nice apartments furnished as sleeping quarters for school groups. Although the weather was rainy and cold, it was offset by a decrease in visitors. We returned to Glendale at 11:00 p.m., May 10 and found it hard to believe that we had been in Montreal just eight hours before. I'm glad that I had this opportunity to see Expo '67. It is fantastic and something you have to see to believe. I hope many of you will get to Canada's Expo '67.

1867 Glendale Review 1967

Where can you find Sir John A. Macdonald and a folk singer, a gymnastic display and a baton artist, singers and soloists and a rock, rhythm and blues band, a variety of dances and a lot of excellent entertainment all under one roof, at the same time? Answer — at the Glendale Review.

Our centennial extravaganza took place April 19 and 20 this year and met with much success as we put on three solid hours of fast-moving music and theatrical mayhem. The programme included a wide assortment of talent which poured forth over the footlights with outstanding verve and enthusiasm. Among the presentations were a one-act drama concerning Confederation, entitled "The Dream," a high-stepping, toe-tapping folk dance by the Canadian Tartans, scenes from Moliere's "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme," a medley of dances from the past one hundred years performed by the Glendale Swingers and an outstanding display of precision and skill by the Glendale Gymnastic Team.

Elaine Hustler's solos and the baton routine of Sharon Barham were two other outstanding performances. Glendale's folk-singing Bruce Herron delighted the audience with his comic wit while The Mascots, a youthful rock band, set toes and fingers tapping and snapping. Throughout the show, our two able masters of ceremonies, Cathy Davidson and Uwe Meyer, maintained a rapid tempo of quips and introductions.

Behind the scenes, many teachers and students worked diligently, some for many weeks prior to the performances to guarantee that everything would go off smoothly. We are particularly indebted to Mrs. Van De Wiele, Mr. Armstrong, Miss Piper, Mrs. Bunting and Mr. J. N. Scott for their talent and patience in organizing and presenting the show.

The Glendale staff and scudents can take a bow for a job well done!

Is that you talking again, Grace?
