The Wilson Family

Abstract from "Heritage Renewed" A History of the West Oxford United Church and Cemetery, c1970, p. 63

The Wilson were notorious for recycling the same first names of children from generation to generation thus making sorting out their histories difficult.

The first farm purchased by the Charles Wilson and Eliza Elliott was at Lot 23 Con 2 of W Oxford in 1849. The family location between 1830 and 1840 has not been found. Portions of the property would stay in the family until Charles W Wilson sold in 1952, just prior to the farm being partitioned by the build of the MacDonald – Cartier Freeway (Highway 401).

Charles was the oldest son of William Wilson and Sarah Foster of York, England. Charles and Eliza purchased another 200 acres at Lot 24 Con 1 of Dereham township and would name it Goodhand Farm. This farm would remain in the family for several generations. Charles also purchased other farms in the area.

Charles had 4 brothers. Other than brother William who was a tanner in Woodstock all the other brothers farmed in the region. Located on the Dereham Ingersoll (Culloden) Rd was brother Leonard who farmed the adjacent lot to Charles at Lot 22 Con 1 Dereham. The youngest Wilson, Richard Jr. and Charles would eventually take over their father's farm at Lot 23 Con 2 W Oxford adjacent to uncles Thomas Prouse and James Elliott. Brother Richard's children would farm in the immediate vicinity for decades. Their history can be found in "The Land is Their Heritage" in the Ingersoll Library.

From "The Land is their Heritage"

Fourth son Robert was located in W Oxford to the east of the other farms. Charles would also own Lot 21 Con 2 named Broadview farm and Lot 26 Con 1 Dereham. Charles and Eliza Elliott did business at the adjacent Lot 21 Con 1 Dereham farm as cheesemakers. Some of these properties stayed in the family for many generations with multiple changes of hands and mortgages engaged within the expanding family membership.

Having the multiple relatives and families working together in close proximity would make the heavy chores easier with the large contingent of labour available to share the work.

Marriage records show Charles and Eliza were married 29 Oct 1845 in Woodstock, Ontario.

Eliza Elliott

Eliza Elliott arrived in Canada in the early summer of 1843. She and her younger siblings spent that winter in Durham Co. east of York (Toronto) likely with cousins or close relatives, while her brothers and father purchased property in W Zorra about 8 km. north of Ingersoll at Lot 7 Con 1 of W Zorra township and proceeded to enlarge an existing log cabin or build a house in the fall of 1843. The rest of the family arrived at the property the following spring of 1844. At some point within the next year, Eliza and Charles Wilson met and were married. Marriage records show they were married 29 Oct 1845 in Woodstock, Ontario. They were both about 30 years of age. The Wilson clan purchased several farms in the W. Oxford and Dereham township area just south west of Ingersoll in the following years. Eliza was not far from her Elliott family as her married sister Mary Prouse and her younger brother James Elliott purchased farms that were close to Charles and Eliza Wilson properties. The Wilsons were an ambitious bunch, as you needed to be to survive in the area at the time. Eliza was known as being headstrong and a take charge person. Because she and the Elliott family had knowledge of the cheese making process, she and her husband decided to start a cheese factory on their property. Gradually they worked the dairy herd up to 40 head, a large number in that era. Eliza's sister's family, the Prouses and younger brother Samuel Elliott both started cheese factories as well in Oxford County. Although the Wilson cheese factory was in Charles' name, Eliza was the cheesemaker and boss. A verbal account of Eliza is noted in the following excerpt.

..... written about 1945

Following is a hand-written account of Cheese Making written by William Wilson Nancekivell, grand-son of Richard Wilson and Sarah Foster Wilson of York, Yorkshire who arrived here in 1831 and settled on the farm now occupied by R.H. Wilson, Lot 23, on the 1st Concession, Dereham.

The Wilsons had five sons; William, who conducted a tannery in Woodstock; Leonard, who conducted Lot 22, 1st concession of Dereham; Robert, of West Oxford; Charles, who settled on Lot 21, Concession 1 Dereham; and Richard on the home farm.

Charles married Eliza Elliott whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Elliott, of Bideford, Devon, settled on the 1st concession of West Zorra in 1833. The Red Star Cheese Factory was later built on this farm by a son Samuel Elliott.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wilson were married October 29th, 1845 and went to their home in Dereham. There was supposed to be a log house and barn but when the concession was surveyed they were on another man's property. This they were able to buy.

They started dairying the following spring with four two-year heifers but found that butter only could be exchanged in trade. They had cash commitments to make on the farm so had to look for a source of cash income. The Elliotts were dairymen in Devonshire and made their milk into cheese in the home where Mrs. Wilson learned the art. /s/ Cheese was a cash product so they decided to make their milk into cheese. This was in the Spring of 1846.

First she had to have equipment and there was none to hand so she went to a cooper, Cord Lewis, of Salford who made her a large tub 3½ or 4 ft across and some hoops. She also had a small vat made to cover the top of the stove for heating the milk and whey. The hoops were set on stands outside. The curd was pressed by putting a cleat the proper height and using a long pole over the hoop or set and under the cleat. On the outer end of the pole she hung a ten-gallon kettle with some stones in it and as the curd was pressed down she added more stones. The calves stomachs were all saved in those days for use in coagulating the milk as there was no prepared rennet. She made cheese with this equipment in my day. I used to be a source of worry to her as she was afraid I would fall into the tub. They sold the cheese to Frank Connor, provision merchant and hotel keeper, London, later Senator. It was a two day trip with oxen.

* the Elliott family arrive 1843 and not 1833.

The selling of cheese had become a competitive business in the late 1860s. The American Civil War was over and the American cheesemakers were infringing on what had been an exclusive market in England for Canadian cheese. To promote the cheese makers of Oxford Co, Charles and several other cheesemakers met to find a way to generate more sales. A decision was made to make a "big cheese wheel". This cheese would set a world record in weight and would tour England and Europe to promote Oxford Co. cheese products.

"Lydia Chase Ranney and her assistant Robert Facey began making cheese locally in the mid-19th century. Ranney shared her knowledge of cheese making with her son-in-law James Harris, and in 1865 he established Ingersoll's first co-operative cheese factory on this property. To stimulate international interest, specifically in the lucrative British market, local cheese factory owners and entrepreneurs created the Ingersoll Cheese Manufacturing Company of Oxford to produce a mammoth wheel of cheddar cheese, here in 1866.

Facey, the head cheesemaker, used 7,778 imperial gallons (35 metric tonnes) of milk to make the 7,300-pound (3,311-kilogram) round of cheese. It was made in eight days and cured for three months in a specially built shed. In August 1866, the "Big Cheese" was transported on a modified wagon by six horses to the train station in Ingersoll. It was exhibited at the New York State Fair in Saratoga and then shipped to England, where it was bought by a Liverpool merchant. The "Big Cheese" helped establish Oxford County as the birthplace of Canada's commercial cheese industry."

Arguments can be made that Eliza Elliott was the first cheesemaker in the region as she and her husband had a cheese factory set up in the 1850s.

An excerpt from a story by grandson William Nancekivell about Charles Wilson is an interesting window into the times.

There is another incident that might be related here. One nice June morning a nephew of Charles Wilson, another Charles, commonly known as "Lawyer" ran his horse from the corner to the factory. This lad was about 9 years old at the time and just wanted to see the old horse gallop. The wagon contained one can of milk about half full. On arrival at the factory his uncle gave him a severe lecture about the risk of losing the milk and that he should be more careful to save all he could. (I think he remembered that lecture). The Wilson factory operated until the early 1880's when it was sold to the Independent Oxford Cheese Company. H.A. Simister, Ingersoll was one of the company.

Charles Wilson Factory

While this cheese factory was always a small operation it never-the-less has a most interesting history. The following account is based on accounts written by W.W. Nancekivell, a great nephew of Charles Wilson and an account written by Byron Jenvey from stories told him by W.W. Nancekivell.

In 1832 one William Barker obtained 900 acres in Concession 1 and 2 of Dereham near the Culloden Road. About the same time a Wilson family from Yorkshire settled on Lot 21, Concession 1 of Dereham. About 1845 one of the Wilson sons, named Charles, learned that Mr. Barker was offering land for sale so he agreed to purchase 200 acres. The terms of the purchase were $100 down and $100 of the principle owing to be paid each year until the mortgage was paid off. Charles Wilson then married Elizabeth (or Eliza) Elliott whose family had come from Bideford, Devon and settled on Concession 1, West Zorra in 1833. They were married, October 29, 1845, and went to Charles' newly purchased farm in Dereham.

There was supposed to be a log house and barn on the property but when the concession was surveyed they were found to be on another man's property. The Wilsons were able to purchase the buildings however. It was not long before they learned that their farm had been sold and repossessed three times before they bought it. Money was scarce and when the previous purchasers had been unable to come up with the first payment Barker had foreclosed, kept the down payment and re-sold the farm.

Mrs. Wilson was a very determined young woman and resolved that they would not be caught in this manner. She had been given 2 heifers by her father, and her husband had also been given 2 heifers by his father. They obtained 3 more, making a herd of 7. They learned that butter could only be traded for merchandise at local stores, but there was no cash market for it, so Eliza Wilson resolved to make cheese and market it in London. The Elliotts had brought a knowledge of cheese making from Devon.

Just before one of Eliza's heifers was about to freshen her father came to see them and as the heifer had developed into a very promising animal he announced that she was much too good a beast for a Wilson to own and started to drive the heifer home. Not to be outdone Eliza ran ahead, turned the heifer back and locked the gate.

Apparently Mrs. Wilson made excellent cheese for soon one buyer contracted for all she could produce. When the time came to make the payment on the mortgage they took the $100 plus interest to Mr. Barker's home but he refused to take the money. He had fully expected to take the farm back and re-sell it. The Wilsons placed the money on his table and left. So against his will, Barker was forced to accept. They continued to meet their payments and eventually owned the farm.

Mrs. Wilson continued to make cheese for many years and after a time her neighbours asked her to make cheese from their milk also. In response to their request the Wilsons built a small factory on their farm not far from the farm buildings and made cheese for a number of years. Mrs. Wilson either made or supervised the cheese making. She must have been a big powerful woman, as well as determined and energetic, for the story is told that on one occasion she became exasperated with a rather indolent helper and seized him by the collar and tossed him into the whey vat.

The equipment in the beginning was very modest. Mrs. Wilson located a Salford cooper and had him make her wooden buckers, tubs and a vat. The press consisted of a long pole with one end caught under a cleat close to the cheese hoop and a bucket of rocks hung on the distant end to apply pressure as a lever. More stones were added as more pressure was required.

This factory operated until the early 1880's when it was sold to the Independent Oxford Cheese Company. The new management increased the price of cheese making which led to much dissatisfaction. As a result the farmers of the area built a new factory on the Culloden road about ¼ of a mile farther north and on the west side of the road. This was known as the "Dereham and West Oxford Cheese and Butter Manufacturing Co. Ltd."

For many years it was also known as the Nancekivell Cheese Factory. It continued in operation until 1914.

It is interesting to note that Eliza (Elliott) Wilson's brother Samuel Elliott built a cheese factory on his father's farm on the 1st Concession of West Zorra. This later was sold and renamed the Red Star Cheese factory.

There is some disagreement as to whether Lydia Ranney or Eliza Wilson was the earlier cheese maker, but they were contemporaries and these two remarkable women were true pioneers in establishing the cheese industry in Oxford County.

Transcription of Ingersoll Chronicle article about Charles Wilson's death, Jan 1, 1893.
 (Edited for brevity)

One of Oxford's Pioneers – A sketch of his life

"The death of Mr. Charles Wilson which was briefly announced last week, removes from our neighbourhood one of the oldest and most highly respected residents. He was born on Dec. 20th, 1816 in the village of Leavening, Yorkshire, England. Most of his life, however, was spent in Canada at or near the home where he died, having arrived as a 14-year-old. Mr. Wilson had been ailing for some time. Just a year ago his illness became more serious and he has been under doctor's care ever since. He was a strong supporter of the Methodist church and was ready with his wealth to aid in the work connected therewith. He converted to God in 1837 and he and his brother William organized a church in Salford.

He was married to Miss Eliza Elliott who survives him. He leaves as follows: Mrs. Reuben Nancekivell of Dereham, Mrs. G M Collins of Toronto, Mrs. Chas. Cook of W Oxford and Mr. Foster Wilson of Dereham. A memorial service was held on King St. Methodist church. Rev D. W. Snider preached an appropriate sermon paying high tribute to the memory of the deceased."

"...to believe that Charles Wilson is this morning in paradise, does not lower the standard, does not defame the integrity of our belief in the demand of Almighty God that none shall enter there unclean, impure and unwashed. We know from the testimony of his acquaintances and from certain facts gathered from his lips that he joined himself to God early in his manhood. I gather from him, in his own words that he had “tried to be loyal to the church and to stick with it, through evil report and good report.”

“His character was simple, honest, unostentatious, benevolent. We cannot fail to regard his life as a success but we cannot attribute that success to any gift he had. In him there was nothing dashing or brilliant: nothing of the aggressive or speculative. He was quietly firm, peaceably resolute, faithfully honest, religiously benevolent. His were the qualities that go to smoothen the rough places in life and to give men anchorage where so much is fickle and fraudulent. His piety was not the shining sort but the metal of solid. He was genuine and constant. He was a character that plodded steadily along, keeping pace with his neighbour. I make special mention of two other things. First Charles Wilson was punctual to his appointments and engagements. He was in his place on time - in the house of God - at the hour of worship. He started from home so that should any little thing go wrong with horse or harness he would still be on time. He started from home so that at the church his horse could be attended to and could be warm and his wrap removed - not on time for the second hymn but for the beginning of service. This is the mark of his character. He maintained in his home the family altar, the great heritage of his children today. I suppose he was as other men who had no time for family worship. But he had time.”

“I may not have touched the depth of your knowledge of his worth. It will draw you nearer him than ever before. Any further words from me of consolation or of comfort are useless and vain.”

SARAH FOSTER WILSON NANCEKIVELL

Reuben arrived in Ontario from Devon in April 1852 with his father William Nancekivell and mother Ann Ford. It appears that the Nancekivells settled in E Oxford township south of Eastwood on Con7 and lots 10/11-17 when they first arrived as per the 1861 agricultural census. It is thought the couple moved to Dereham around 1870. However, first child William's 1873 birth certificate indicates he was born in E Zorra. How Reuben and Sarah Wilson met is unknown but after his marriage to Sarah, Reuben went to work as a farm labourer on the family farm at Dereham. It appears that they lived there. His father had purchased Lot 21 Con 1 in Dereham in 1869 and he stepped aside and retired from farming and sold 50 acres to son Reuben. Reuben himself purchased a farm at lot 21 Con 2 in 1900 from cousin Foster Wilson. The property was 200 acres and cost $14,000 and had been held by Sarah's father Charles Wilson's family since 1852. 50 acres of adjacent Lot 22 Con 1 was bought in 1887 as well. The Nancekivells were also involved in a Lot 27 Con 1 property in W Oxford. Sarah Wilson's father was involved in the financing of several Dereham properties. The couple raised a large brood and had a very successful farm. The 1911 census notes he had a son-in-law and three hired hands and two "ditchers" living on the property. He was involved in many township functions.

Mr. Nancekivell will become a citizen of Ingersoll about the 20th of March. He has many friends here and will be heartily welcomed by citizens generally.

1916, he and Sarah Wilson retired to 275 Oxford St. in Ingersoll. The house is a large duplex across the street from present day

BY PIECE OF PAPER.
Frightened, it is supposed by a piece of paper that was fluttering in the street, a team of horses belonging to Reuben Nancekivell, attached to a democrat wagon ran away from in front of Robinson Bros.' grocery store Tuesday night. William is listed on his marriage schedule and obituary as being born in East Zorra, his replacement birth certificate issued in 1920 had him born at Lot 4 and 5 Con 11 of that township. This is in conflict with onland.ca records that show the Nancekivell family in Dereham in 1870. Perhaps his parents were working with his uncle Thomas Nancekivell on his N Zorra farm in 1873 or his mother chose to have her child at a relative's home. He married Irene Jenvey on the 18th of March of 1903. Irene's second name has multiple spellings in the records. Ten days later the couple took possession of the old Dorland 160-acre farm in N Oxford at Lot 13 Con 3 that was purchased for $12,000.00. The farm property was north of IRC and on the next concession and adjacent to what had been one of great uncle James Elliott's farms. The Dorland's sold the farm and moved to the east of Beachville on old highway #2 where their new location was eventually subdivided into the Dorland subdivision. William worked on his farm until 1943 when he retired. His estate sold it in June 1948, after his death.

Bill Meek

Bill Meek's roots in Oxford County are deep. He was born in Ingersoll in 1939 and was raised on a farm where 'the title went clear back to the crown'. In the 1830s his ancestor, William Meek, a stonemason, arrived to take up 400 acres of heavily forested land in West Oxford. William kept this land, but purchased a second farm on the Old Stage Road. The family prospered. A son, Peter, developed the original land, acquired the timber rights and built a sawmill. Peter's wife Margaret set up a cheese factory.

Bill attended school at Foldens Corners where he insisted that he was 'basically a good student' but did admit to doing something mildly mischievous at least once. The bricks on the wall of the school were quite soft and it was a tradition for students to scratch their initials on the bricks. Bill found a brick that was soft enough to carve his whole name. Bill had completely forgotten about it. Guess what happened next. In Bill's words, "When the school was torn down in the 1960's, Monty Towne, came to my door one day and handed me that brick. Imagine the chances of ever finding that".

In 1960, Bill met his wife, Sharon. Last year they celebrated their 50th anniversary.

The Meeks have three children and three grandchildren. While his children were growing up Bill was involved with cubs in Salford. From 1960 until it moved to its Southgate facility, Sharon managed the Woodstock Seniors' Centre.

After graduating from OAC, Bill joined his father's dairy operation. In 1969 they switched from dairy to hog production. Bill was a member of the Pork Producers and over the years he served on the executive in a variety of positions

In 1988 Bill changed careers, joining Ayr Tractor in Hickson, working on repairing small engines. After six months his employer enrolled him in the small engine apprenticeship program. This combined two years of on-the-job experience along with two years at Sir Stafford Fleming College in Peterborough. At the end of the program, he received his small engine licence. Since 2000 Bill continues to do small engine repairs from his home.

Sharon and Bill still live on the original family farm. However, now the land is rented out except for a couple of acres of sweet corn. According to Bill, growing the sweet corn is more of an excuse to work my antique tractors". Bill and his brother have a collection of eight machines. If you are travelling between Foldens and Sweaburg in August and September you might see Bill's little veggie stand sitting out by the road.

Music has always been a big part of Bill's life. He started learning the clarinet at age thirteen; taking lessons from Tom Brooks. In high school he took up the alto saxophone. He was part of a group (including fellow Probian, Bernard Calder) called the Double Dribble Nine. They cheered on WCI at football and basketball games. Later he played with the Norwich Musical Society Band. Bill is not only an accomplished musician but he sang with the Woodstock Choralaires for 27 years, touring in Britain and Europe.

Blair Kelner, Bruce Jakeman and Tracy Buchannan have joined Bill as part of a musical foursome. There is a music room set up in his basement complete with mikes and amplifiers. The gang brings their instruments and Bill provides the beer. In July the group played at the Canterbury Folk Festival in Ingersoll and we will all have a chance to hear Bill's group at the Probus Social.

George was the oldest of Ernie and May Jackmans children born Lot 7 Con2, 50 acres which were purchased by this grandfather in 1896. Father Ernest spent $9000 in 1937 to purchase the property from his father. With the property in George's hands in 1953, a $15,000 purchase from his father, the Dept of Highways tore the farm in half with the passage of Highway 401 through the land. The family decided to pursue full time producing maple syrup.

George Jakeman Anne Nancekivell Jakeman
(Reeve of W Oxford from 1973 – 1974).

The Jakeman's have a storied history in the production of maple syrup in Oxford County with 142 years of family experience as of 2022.

About Jakemans

In 1876, our great grandparents, George and Betsy Anne Jakeman left Oxfordshire, England to settle the Jakeman Family in Oxford County, near Woodstock, Ontario.

The local Native Canadians taught the maple syrup making technique to the Jakeman family. They were shown how to collect sap from maple trees in the early spring and boil it down in an iron kettle over an open wood fire until it was a syrupy golden brown.

In 1919, our grandfather, Ernest Jakeman, purchased his first evaporator, setting it in a crude shelter with no roof. He hung 500 buckets.

In 1951, our father, George Jakeman, purchased a large 5 x 16 evaporator to replace the old one. In 1955, a roof was built over the shanty, but in 1969 a fire forced the abandonment of the original sugar shanty site.

In 1970, we enlarged our operation, building a new sugar shanty and purchasing a new oil-fired evaporator.

In 1976, we moved the Sweaburg General Store that was built in 1855 and used as a store and post office in the nearby village of Sweaburg. The building now functions as our maple gift shop, museum and pancake house.

The family tradition continues with Bob and Mary Jakeman and family, who maintain the production of some of the finest maple syrup from over 1000 taps. All the sap is collected by plastic pipeline and transported to our sugar shanty (next to our country store) where it is then boiled in our modern high-efficiency natural gas-fired steam evaporator and then finished on a steam finishing pan. The maple syrup is graded and then bottled for use throughout the year.

From the start of maple syrup production to today the family run company has expanded into the international market with sales world wide. The video on the attached website illustrates Jakeman's products and today's manufacturing methods.

Today, their products are sold worldwide.

Anne was involved in Ingersoll Junior Farmers in her early twenties, raising to the post of Vice President in 1935. In 1935, Ingersoll Merchants held a talent contest where patrons could vote for the winner.

Anne placed fourth in the contest and won a Sparton Radio.

Jun 29, 2018 Woodstock Sentinel Review:

"It has been five years in the making, but the next chapter in the Jakeman family maple syrup legacy begins with a new production facility. An official ground-breaking ceremony was held Friday, June 29 for the new 17,000 square foot facility. The timeline for the new factory is short, with the outer shell to be completed by fall and the interior by December. Operations will continue in the meantime, but once construction is complete, production will shift to the new facility for the beginning of January. The design is open concept layout with bottling, packaging, and sugar lines, and an area for maple butter production. "The idea for the expansion started after my mom, Mary came back from the International Duty-Free Show. Starbucks was looking for a maple sugar distributor," said Chad Jakeman, who currently leads operations with his brother Devin Jakeman. Chad is vice president and sales manager. Devin is operations manager and oversees all production. "Finally, bakeries can use our pure and natural sugar," said Mary Jakeman. Trying to stay competitive in their industry, Devin researched the best machines for the new facility that will allow the family to produce the best results in the least amount of time. He traveled to Kentucky, Minneapolis and Spain, where he found equipment for the new factory. "The maple sugar production from the old factory to the new will go from 100 pounds a day to 40,000 pounds in a week," said Chad.

"We are already SFA certified, however, with a bigger factory we are able to produce more private labels for companies, giving us more opportunities in other food services and baked goods markets," said Chad.

With hard work and dedication, the future for Jakeman's Maple Products looks bright and busy.

The plan is to hire more employees and upgrade the old building by increasing its tourism space, creating product storage, and a making larger pancake breakfast location.

"As a family business, we have gone from almost closing our doors to becoming the largest maple syrup factory in Ontario. We held together and over the generations have made something special," said Chad.

Jakeman's Maple Products began in 1876 with its first owners George and Betsy Anne Jakeman. As time went on new family members took over the business-like former owners and brothers Bob, Bruce, and Larry (late) Jakeman.

Now, 142 years and five generations later, Bob's two sons Chad and Devin still work along-side their parents Mary and Bob, with products ideas, customer service, and sales."

G. Nancekivell Honoured On 85th Birthday

A celebration took place on Saturday afternoon and evening for Mr. George Nancekivell at his home in West Oxford on the occasion of his 85th birthday. It was planned by his son, Mr. Wilbur Nancekivell and Mrs. Nancekivell of Woodstock, and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Carl Nancekivell, as a complete surprise. The many relatives and friends who called to offer congratulations, were greeted with a hearty welcome. It was a source of regret to all that his wife is a patient in Alexandra Hospital, and unable to participate in the joyful occasion.

The guests were served refreshments, including a prettily decorated birthday cake, by Mr. Nancekivell's four granddaughters, Mrs. Blake, Marion, Ruth and Margaret Nancekivell. Photos were taken of Mr. Nancekivell with his brother, Bert Nancekivell and sister, Mrs. Roy Jenvey, the remaining members of a family of eight. The guest of honour received many cards and gifts.

Farmer Who Makes
Search

Special to The Star

Ingersoll, Sept. 9.—A killer dog is again stalking through West Oxford township, south of here.

A cow on the farm of George Nancekivell was found so badly torn and with such gaping wounds that she was mercifully killed on Friday afternoon last. It was learned today that despite numerous searches, Mr. Nancekivell has been unable to locate the dog.

When he found the dying cow, he saw a black police dog skulking nearby. The dog growled when approached, but finally got out of sight.

This farm is next to that of George Groves where a number of sheep were attacked this summer.

Record Ceremony As Gift Given

Mr. and Mrs. George Nancekivell, Beachville, were pleasantly surprised on their 40th anniversary by over 40 relatives. Cards and crokinole were played. A recording was made as a walnut coffee table was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Nancekivell by two of their grandchildren, Donald and Marion, children of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nancekivell. Mr. Wilbur Nancekivell, the eldest son, acted as master of ceremonies calling on different members of the family for congratulatory speeches. The replaying of the record caused much laughter. As Mr. and Mrs. Bert Nancekivell were unable to be present, the recording was taken to their place later. A message from them had been recorded earlier in the evening and came as a surprise during the replaying of the record.

NANCEKIVELL-

WILKINSON The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wilkinson, Albert Street, was the scene of a pretty wedding at seven o'clock last night when their second daughter Mildred, was united in marriage to Mr. George M. Nancekivell of West Oxford.

George was a farmer at Lot 16 Con 2 Dereham and well known for his apple orchard. His first wife, Gertrude Bell, died one year after giving birth to son George Wilbur. She died of Hepatitis and had been ill with many ailments for several years. She was 28 years old at her death. George had a one-year-old at home and quickly made Sarah Wilkinson his second wife. Sarah was the sister of John Wilkinson of Tillsonburg. John Wilkinson's son would marry a Seldon cousin of George Nancekivell. This son later would become mayor of Tillsonburg in the 1970s. It some point in the late 1940's they lived in Beachville. George celebrated his 85th birthday as noted in the May 28th 1959 Ingersoll Times. He had a surprise birthday party at his W Oxford residence. As noted, wife Sarah was in the hospital at the time. She died two months later and George lived another two years.

His birth gives some credence to an E Zorra link that has not been fully established. Another long-time farmer of Dereham, his farm was located at Lot 22 Con 2 of Dereham, part of his father's farm and called Eldershade Farm. In 1853 this was a cousin Leonard Wilson's property. Father Reuben purchased 50 acres in 1887 and Charles bought 100 acres of the lot in 1905 as per Onland.ca. for $12,000 from his father. It was north of Verschoyle and was located close to several brothers' farms. He was only 60 years old when he died of pneumonia. The farm was still in the family name until 1962 when a portion was granted to the Midnight Fur Company to raise mink. The rest of the land was still in the family in 1983.

Jenny Carmichael was the daughter of Samuel Carmichael, a farmer in Southwold, Elgin Co. How they met is unknown.

CHARLES F. NANCEKIVELL

The death occurred Wednesday morning, August 19th, of a widely known and esteemed resident of Dereham [township], in the person of Charles F. Nancekivell, at his late residence, Lot 22, Concession 2. He had been confined to his bed since Tuesday of last week. The late Mr. Nancekivell, who was 60 years of age, was born north of Woodstock, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Nancekivell. He moved with his parents to Dereham [township] at an early age and has since resided in the township, where he had endeared himself to a large circle of friends. For a number of years, he served as a trustee of School Section, No. 3, Dereham.

A NANCEKIVELL FAMILY FARM

In Oct. 9, 1889, Reuben Nancekivell and, his wife, Sarah purchased 4 fifty acre farms in Dereham Township. The barn they built was constructed from timber from the woods on the land. The barn housed purebred dairy cattle and horses.

In 1908 their son, Charles Foster Nancekivell built a house on the property, constructed from lumber from trees on the farm. The floors were hardwood, each slat was 6 inches wide. The house had three stairways, recessed doors on the lower level, maple trim throughout the house, a veranda at the front of the house and a porch at the side. There were two chimnies, the basement was of cut concrete block, the house itself was double red brick, and the roof was slate engraved with maple leaves. Several stained glass windows were purchased from Eaton's catalogue in the early 1900's and installed. The house was heated by burning wood in the milder weather and coal during the winter (the wood burning furnace would go out during the night, but the coal would burn all night) Drinking water came from the well, but for laundry and baths, they depended on the soft water cistern in the attic, fed by the evestroughs on the roof (in the days before acid rain)

In 1912, Charles F. Nancekivell married Jenny Carmichael, the school teacher at S.S.#3 and they purchased the farm from Reuben and Sarah. Jenny named the property Eldershade Farm, for the shade trees and the elderberries that grew wild along the lanes. She planted an orchard and kept geese.

Charles and Jenny had a son, Charles Cameron Nancekivell, on Nov. 19, 1919. He recalled his father said he had built the house for a large family and he (Charles Cameron) was it!

Charles Foster lived to see the farm wired for electricity in 1935, but died from pneumonia in 1936 during the harvest. The farm continued with Jenny Nancekivell and her 16 year old son.

In Nov. 1947, a fire destroyed the original barn and most of the cattle perished in the blaze. In 1948, the barn was replaced by a steel structure which included a stable cleaner. A machinery shed was added later. The herd of cattle was built up from the few survivors.

Charles married Ida Corbett in the summer of 1948. Over the years, the veranda and the porch were replaced, a milking parlour was added, an oil furnace replaced coal and wood heating. Charles Nancekivell passed away in 1993.

Although the cows are now sold and the land is rented out, the property has been in the Nancekivell name for over 112 years.

Mother Sarah died in 1926 but father Reuben had only passed four years before daughter Martha. Martha left behind a 13-year-old son. She is buried with her parents.

MRS. HERBERT MAYBERRY

The death of a highly esteemed resident of Ingersoll occurred at the family residence, Oxford St., early Monday morning, June 8th, in the person of Martha R. and came to Ingersoll, where she had resided for the past 20 years. She was a member of Trinity United Church, and when health permitted had taken an active part in the women's organizations there. NANCEKIVELL—GREGG.
From Thursday's Daily.
 A very happy event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gregg, Salford, yesterday afternoon, when their daughter Edith Eloise was united in marriage to Mr. R. R. Nancekivell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Nancekivell, Dereham.

Ingersoll Tribune 1942

“Dick” was a well-known Salford residence throughout his life. He owned the General Store, was a coal dealer and operated a local farm. Dick was the Salford Postmaster from 1938 until his death in 1956. Ironically his Prouse/George cousins, Andrew Stevens and wife Mary George were also Salford Postmasters in Salford prior to him. Edith would continue on as postmaster until death took her from the job. As well, a previous postmaster, William Wilkinson is also related to the Elliott/Prouse family by marriage.

I. THE EDITH NANCEKIVELL MISSION CIRCLE (1952 – 1961)

In the summer of 1952 Mrs. Eleanor Wallace contacted young married women of the congregation who did not attend W.A. or W.M.S. Enough interest was aroused to form a Mission Circle for Bible Study and Mission work.

The choice of a name for this group presented a problem. Three suggestions were put forward and it was decided to choose by ballot. (Mrs. R. R.) Edith Nancekivell was overwhelmed and honoured to have her name chosen as the Mission Circle name. At this time Mrs. Edith Nancekivell had served as Oxford Presbyterial W.M.S. President.

In 1959 they changed their name to the Edith Nancekivell Evening Auxiliary rather than join W.M.S. They had regular monthly meetings until Dec. 1961 when they moved to discontinue and join the U.C.W.

SALFORD POSTMASTER PASSES SUDDENLY

Announcement of the sudden passing of Reuben Richard [Dick] Nancekivell, at his home in Saiford on Thursday morning last, came as a distinct shock to his immediate family and scores of friends. Apparently in his usual health on Wednesday, he made the usual mail delivery, and his passing was attributed to a stroke. Born in Dereham [township], son of the late Reuben and Sarah Nancekivell, he was in his 69th year, and had been a lifelong resident of Dereham [township]. He had been engaged in farming and for the past 44 years he had resided in Saiford. He had operated the general store in the village and for the past 18 years had been the genial and highly esteemed postmaster. He had always taken an active interest in the community and given of his time unstintingly to further its advancement. A member of the Saiford United Church, he had also served as an elder for many years. He was also a member of Dereham Lodge, No 624, Mount Elgin. Left to mourn the passing of a dearly loved husband and father are his wife, the former, Edith Gregg; two sons, Bert and Hagle's Corners and George of RR5 Ingersoll; 8 grandchildren and a number of nieces and nephews.

"The term "war bride" refers to the estimated 48,000 young women who met and married Canadian servicemen during the Second World War. These war brides were mostly from Britain, but a few thousand were also from other areas of Europe: the Netherlands, Belgium, France, Italy and Germany. War brides also came to Canada after the First World War. The official Government of Canada history of the First World War reports that an estimated 54,000 relatives accompanied the returning troops following demobilization. This remarkable group of Canadian citizens who, for love, followed their husbands. Where their returning Veterans went, these young women followed and made their new homes in their young and growing land. These women were welcomed to their new communities and new families. The contributions of these new Canadians would soon extend far beyond the walls of their homes as they entered into the life of their communities and enriched it with their many abilities and hard work. The years following the Second World War were ones of unprecedented change for Canada and our country's war brides have played an important part in the growth and development of the free and peaceful Canada that we enjoy today"

DEATH CALLS FOSTER WILSON

Well Known Citizen Passed
Passed Away This Morning
After Month's Illness.

A four weeks' illness terminated about nine o'clock this morning in the death of Foster Wilson, at the family residence, Oxford Street. The end was not unexpected as his condition had been critical practically ever since he was stricken with paralysis four weeks ago yesterday. Up to the time that he was suddenly stricken, Mr. Wilson had enjoyed good health and seemed to be strong and robust. On the preceding Wednesday he attended the Union Sunday School picnic at Port Burwell, having made the trip by automobile, and he found the day one of extreme pleasure.

The late Foster Wilson was in his 75th year. He was a native of Oxford County, having been born in a pioneer home of log construction in Dereham Township. His boyhood Dereham Township. His boyhood days were spent in Dereham, and it was there that he engaged in farming, which he followed most successfully. He was one of the best known men of the Township, and although of a retiring and unassuming disposition, he always manifested a keen interest in all community affairs. He had served the Township in the capacity of a School Trustee.

Some twenty-five years ago he came to Ingersoll and had since resided here. He was one of a little group of men who gathered at a convenient and hospitable place of business almost daily and looking back over years of toil and earnest activity, discussed many matters that were of deep interest to their own circle. He will be greatly missed by many of these associates.

Besides the widow, Mr. Wilson is survived by four sons, as follows: Charles, of Radisson, Sask.; Theo. L., of Swadwell, Alberta; Harry L. Victoria, B.C., and J. S. P., of Vicksburg, Miss.

The funeral (private), will be held Sunday afternoon to the Ingersoll Rural cemetery. Services at the house at 2.30 o'clock.

WILSON BROTHERS

The hardware business now conducted by Messrs. Theo L. and Henry L. Wilson, was established by Wilson & Robertson thirty years ago. In 1868 it became Robertson & McKay, and on Mr. McKay's retirement from the firm a short time ago, Mr. R. J. Robertson took Harry L. Wilson into partnership. Recently he disposed of his interest to Theo L. Wilson and retired from the business. They occupy a fine large store well stocked with shelf and heavy hardware, mechanics tools, builders' findings, paints, brushes, cutlery, glass, etc., in fact everything that a well regulated hardware dealer is expected to keep for sale. The store is 90x27, two stories high, with a basement, fitted with elevators and all the necessary equipment for handling heavy goods.

(Theo. Wilson of the post office staff and Edward Francis, Brantford, left this morning to spend two weeks at Quebec City. They were ticketed through by Mr. D. G. Cuthbertson.

Sometime around 1905, Theo and brother Henry "Harry" became owners of the Wilson Bros. hardware store in Ingersoll. Brother Harry was a part owner before Theo bought into the store by buying out part owner R J Robertson. Both brothers were in their early 20s when they became co-owners. The brothers were removed from the business by midsummer 1909 as Theo had moved to Massachusetts.

Ingersoll Illustrated Souvenir Edition Chronicle 1907

When Theo was living in Worchester Mass., he married the granddaughter of his uncle Thomas Elliott in December of 1909. She was Alma Card, of Rochester, NY. Alma was the daughter of Joseph Card and Louisa Elliott of Ingersoll. Why she was living in Rochester at the time is unknown. Theo was a travelling salesman at the time of his marriage. Travelling is the key word here as the couple, like older step brother Charles Wilson, moved to Alberta soon after the wedding. It appears that Theo and Alma later divorced. The 1911 census indicated that she was no longer living with Theo but was living with her brother Clarence Card and her year-old daughter Gertrude in Swift Current, Sask. (1911 census below)

She remarried in Calgary on the 21st of April, 1915 to well known Calgary clothier Harry Flumerfelt. In 1916 Theo was living in Alberta with his brother Henry and his family in Swalwell, Alberta. The following 1921 census had him as a lodger living on Main St. in Swalwell as his brother and family had moved to Victoria, BC. Swalwell is a hamlet about 100 km. northeast of Calgary and near Drumheller. Theo ran a store in Swalwell for a number of years and then bought a gas station and co-op store in nearby Linden AB.

A Historical Perspective

The Mennonite farmers that first settled in Linden in the mid 1930's brought a sense of optimism, a work ethic and a rich cultural and spiritual tradition that still exists today. It was this spirit that led to the founding of a cheese factory in the Depression era that gained national status for its quality cheese. Shortly after that venture, an equally successful trading Co-op was founded. These early experiences set the tone of co-operation, combined with hard work that is still an important part of Linden's business community today. Linden was incorporated into a village in 1964 with 264 residents. This has more than tripled today. Over the years new business and new residents have continued to move in and enjoy all the benefits and natural beauty that Linden has to offer.

It appears he never remarried. He died in Calgary, Alberta in 1953 a year after moving there to retire. He is buried in IRC. There is some confusion as to his death date. The tombstone and Find a Grave list 05 April 1953, IRC registry lists 05 April 1954, the Alberta Death Index has Dec 30 1953 and the Calgary Herald prior to Dec 21 1953.

Harry was part owner of the Wilson Bros. clothing and hardware store in Ingersoll. However, like both older brother and step-brother, Harry moved to and lived in Alberta in 1916 with his young family. For a time, his step-brother Theo boarded with them. Harry was also a born merchant and I suspect he and his brother Theo arrived in the area together to open a store in Swalwell. This venture was short lived for Harry as the 1921 census had the family, minus Theo, living at 12211 Hampshire Rd. Oak Bay, BC. Harry, who went by H L Wilson throughout his life was busy with politics as soon as he arrived in Victoria/Oak Bay. He was co-owner of a soap and pumice company.

Councillor Wilson resigned on May 21, 1926 and was replaced by T. J. Goodlake by acclamation. G Murdoch, "The History of Oak Bay 1968"

"In mid-summer several complaints were received by Council about cows running at large and damaging property, and also of the noise caused by the bellowing of cows tethered on private property. These complaints were referred to the Chief of Police for attention".

By 1925 he was elected as a city councillor in Oak Bay. He was also involved in the Liberal Party organization in Victoria, was an avid lawn bowler, bridge player and an aeroplane pilot as early as 1925. Wife Clara Nancekivell, from the large Nancekivell clan of Dereham, was involved in the Canadian Daughters League throughout her lifespan and was considered the Victoria branch historian and was spearheading the adoption of an official flag for Canada as early as 1932. (Victoria Times May 13, 1932). She later was elected as President of the National Council. The couple and two daughters were noted many times in the social circles through the 1920s to 1940s in the Victoria Newspapers. It would be interesting to know if they were aware of the number of Elliott relatives that ran in the same social circle in Victoria at that time. In the 1931 census, the family ran into hard times as Henry was unemployed as many were during the Depression. When the couple retired, they moved into a small apartment building a block from the ocean in the James Bay district of Victoria. After his death, his wife and unmarried daughters Clara and Marion lived in an apartment at 1050 Parkington St. in downtown Victoria and later for many years at the 1340 Apt #312 Stadacona Apartment complex in Victoria. Chronicle April 15 1915

John Samuels Poole Wilson was born in Dereham in 1886. In 1903, 18-year-old John left the family farm to seek his fortune emigrating to the USA via Port Huron. US naturalization papers indicate that he applied for citizenship as early as July of 1913 when he was living in Chicago. This is likely where he met his wife Ethel Nelson who was from Western Springs, Illinois a suburb of Chicago. They married 01 Sept 1913 and moved to Vicksburg, Miss. and at age 22, he became the sales manager of the Houston Bros. Lumber Company. He became a US citizen in July 01, 1917. It appears he had a draft card for WWI but did not serve. In 1930 he was a naturalized American living with his family in Vicksburg, Miss. By 1935 he was living in a bungalow on Evergreen St. in Memphis, Tenn. and working for the Houston Bros. company in a new branch office. He left the company and started and operated his own Wilson Lumber Company in 1947. The business thrived and has been run by multiple generations in the family. He died in 1981 and is buried in Memphis.

A Look At Lumber—

New Wilson Firm Succeeds Father's Wholesale Company

By EMMETT MAUM

After being out of the hardwood lumber business 18 years, Charles F. Wilson has returned with formation of Wilson Lumber Co., wholesale firm, successor to J. S. P. Wilson, also a wholesale company, started by his father Jan. 1, 1947.

J. S. P. Wilson, one of the best-known lumbermen in the South, is still active. "Now he's my star salesman," remarked his son of the 78-year-old Mr. Wilson.

Two coincidences mark their lumber careers. Both started out as stenographers for lumber firms and each bought his first lumber from D. B. Floyd, a Sardis, Miss., sawmill operator.

The younger Mr. Wilson left Nixon Lumber Co., where he was vice president in charge of purchasing to start his business. He had been with Nixon 15 years. Although now dealing in hardwoods, Mr. Wilson will continue being associated with softwoods and plywoods. He does business from a walnut-paneled office in his home at 1120 Audubon Drive.

Early in January, 1947, the elder Mr. Wilson drove to Sardis and bought three carloads of cypress from Mr. Floyd, whom he did not know personally at the time. The same day, Mr. Wilson sold the lumber here.

Seventeen years later, Charles F. Wilson, beginning a trip to visit Mid-South sawmills, made his first stop at Sardis. He bought a car of lumber from Mr. Floyd.

The younger Mr. Wilson started as a lumber company stenographer in 1933. During World War II, he managed the office of a Vicksburg, Miss., plant built for war production. After the war, he returned to Memphis as assistant to the president of Gates Lumber Co.

Four years later, when William P. Nixon, longtime vice president of Gates, formed Nixon Lumber Co., Mr. Wilson joined the firm.

J. S. P. Wilson, who has sold many millions of board feet of lumber, entered the industry as a stenographer for George T. Houston Co. 81 years ago in Chicago. He transferred to Vicksburg in 1907, then began covering the entire United States, Ontario and Western Canada in 1911. He moved back to Vicksburg late in 1913.

Mr. Wilson became sales manager for Houston Brothers Lumber Co., Vicksburg, in 1917, and stayed 14 years. He was named sales manager for the Anderson-Tully Co. Lumber department here in 1932, his last position until opening his wholesale business.

Early in January, 1947, the elder Mr. Wilson drove to Sardis and bought three carloads of cypress from Mr. Floyd, whom he did not know personally at the time. The same day, Mr. Wilson sold the lumber here.

LONG EXPERIENCE MERGED—Charles F. Wilson (right) has formed his own firm, Wilson Lumber Co., and his "star salesman" is J. S. P. Wilson, his father, who has been in the industry 61 years. The younger Mr. Wilson inspects a board while his father watches.

Death Claims John Wilson At 95; Retired Lumberman

John S. P. Wilson, 95, a retired lumberman who estimated he sold more than 700 million board feet of lumber during his career, died at 4:30 p.m. yesterday at Bright Glade Convalescent Center.

The J. S. P. Wilson Trophy, given to the "Lumberman of the Year" annually by the Lumberman's Club of Memphis was named in his honor. The trophy signifies "integrity and devotion to the lumber industry and service in national and community affairs."

Mr. Wilson spent 62 years in the industry.

He was sales manager for Anderson-Tully Co. here from 1932 until 1947, and upon retirement started his own firm, J. S. P. Wilson Lumber Co., specializing in hardwoods, cypress and pine.

An associate termed him "one of the most prominent hardwood men in the nation ... a fine old gentleman."

Born in Ingersoll, Ontario, Mr. Wilson came to the United States in 1903. He began his lumber career as a stenographer in Chicago, moved to Vicksburg, Miss., in 1907 and in 1917 became sales manager for Houston Brothers Lumber Co., then considered to have the second largest hardwood sawmill in the world.

In 1967, he was one of five lumbermen selected to record career experiences for the Memphis State University oral history program.

He was a member of the Lumbermen's Club of Memphis and Bellevue Baptist Church and a former member of the Tennessee Club and Chickasaw Country Club.

His wife, the former Ethel Nelson, died about 25 years ago. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. John Rockwood of Washington; two sons, John S. P. Wilson Jr. of Dadesville, Ala., and Charles F. Wilson of Memphis; four grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Memorial Park Funeral Home has charge.

A Look At Lumber— Wilson Planning Expansion Of Newly Bought Hyde Plant

By EMMETT MAUM

Charles F. Wilson, owner of Wilson Lumber Co. since 1964, has purchased Hyde Lumber Co. at 1279 North McLean for an undisclosed sum.

Mr. Wilson, combining the businesses under the Wilson Lumber Co. name, bought the Hyde firm from Milo W. Hyde, retiring after half a century in the lumber industry. Mr. Wilson has been in the lumber business 30 years.

Stephen B. Moser

Hyde Lumber Co. has been a hardwood lumber distribution yard for many years. Mr. Wilson said he plans to expand the yard as soon as possible and offer a direct mill-to-customer and distribution yard service.

"I wanted a place to bring in lumber and carry inventory," he said, "to better service the trade. With many sawmills going out of business and growing farther away from Memphis, we needed such a business here."

Mr. Wilson said he plans to carry considerable quantities of quality lumber for large and small customers. He plans to install saws to cut lumber to size and expects to have some remanufacturing facilities.

Wilson Lumber Co., he said, will continue as a wholesaler of hardwoods, softwoods and plywood.

Revis Gobbell, general manager of Hyde Lumber Co. for eight years, will remain with Wilson Lumber Co. in that capacity, Mr. Wilson said.

Mr. Wilson started in the lumber industry with Anderson-Tully Co., and says he has served in every facet except logging. In 1964, he left Nixon Lumber Co., where he was vice president in charge of purchasing, to start his own firm. Mr. Wilson had been with Nixon for 15 years.

He is the son of J. S. P. Wilson, one of the best-known lumbermen in the South for many years. The elder Mr. Wilson operated a hardwood firm under his name until his son opened Wilson Lumber Co. Then J. S. P. Wilson became a salesman for the new company.

Charles F. Wilson is a former president of the Lumbermen's Club of Memphis.

He leaves behind his wife of 73 years, Eleanor of Germantown; his daughter, Larane Wilson McKee (Harry) of Granbury, TX; his son, Terry Allen Wilson of Germantown; grandchildren, Christopher Allen McKee (Lori) of Dallas, TX, Victoria Eleanor McKee of Dallas, TX, Monica Jane Barton (Derrick) of Bloomington, IL, Melanie Wilson Hodge (Matt) of Greenwood, MS and Noah Wilson of Germantown; and four great-grandchildren.

Collins started out as a stockroom employee working in an auto plant in Oshawa. (1931 census)

"Collins McBride was the manager of Grafton's in Peterborough from 1954 to 1974. When Collin McBride came to Peterborough, "there were at least 15 full-time employees including two office women, two tailors, a woman who looked after the receivables and ticketing of merchandise, three or four in furnishings, two men in the suits' department, a chap running a large, popular, workwear department, a window-dresser and a full-time caretaker."

Collins McBride brought considerable life experience with him. He had worked in a family manufacturing business and had served in the Royal Air Force during the war, mainly as a radar specialist. His retail career began in 1936, and he worked in Grafton stores in Hamilton, Brantford and Dundas before coming to Peterborough, then the largest of Grafton's eight or nine stores." “During the economic depression of 1929-39, young, unemployed men had to work in government work camps for paltry wages in isolated locations.

In pursuit of a living wage, workers in Vancouver abandoned the camps, launching a strike. After striking for two months with no relief in sight, they took their case directly to Ottawa, travelling by rail and on foot. This journey became known as the ‘On to Ottawa trek’.

The trek was stopped by the RCMP on orders from Ottawa and after rioting and arrests of union leaders, the strike ended. Mackenzie King’s Liberals won the next election and legislated against the repressive conservative government, abolishing the camps.

This epic strike and trip captured the hearts and minds of Canadians and gave birth to unemployment insurance in 1940. Canada was the last major Western country to adopt an unemployment insurance system.

Today we refer to this system as Employment insurance (EI). Research has shown that EI was the single most important economic stabilizer in the past 3 recessions.”

Charles and Annie travelled to Detroit in 1926 to join son Percy and according to border paperwork, Chas. was seeking permanent residence. They had $100 with them and at this time the couple were in their late 60s. I suspect Charles was aiming at retiring from his watchman's job in Ingersoll and the couple would be near their sons.

It is not known why but the move was never made permanent. Perhaps the return was due to Annie's health as she had a chronic heart condition and died two years later. After her death, Charles lived in Ingersoll the rest of his life, spending his last few years at 77 Ann St. in Ingersoll. When his health took a turn for the worst, he moved to his daughter Bertha's home in Toronto and eventually into the Church of Ascension Nursing Home in Toronto where pulmonary edema of the lungs took his life. The couple are buried in the Harris St. Cemetery. They had 5 children.

The regular meeting of the Missionary Circle of King's Daughters will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Cook, Ann street, on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock.

CHARLES COOK

Charles Cook, a former esteemed resident of Ingersoll, died unexpectedly on Wednesday night, Dec. 23rd, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. W. Kettlewell, Toronto. Mr. Cook was born at Cook's Corners, West Oxford, and had lived in Ingersoll and surrounding district all his life. He passed on in his 84th year. He left Ingersoll only a year ago and will be very much missed by numerous friends who regret deeply the news of his death. For a number of years, Mr. Cook lived on Ann Street, next to the bowling green and was a very active member of the Ingersoll Lawn Bowling Club. He was a member of the Baptist Church, also a member of King Hiram Lodge, A. F. & A. M. He is survived by two sons, Percy and Charles, both of Detroit, and one daughter, Mrs. D. W. Kettlewell, of Toronto. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock on Percy was born in Dereham likely on the Cook Corners family farm. He completed four years of high school and at age 20 married Elva Laird. Percy and Elva lived on Thames St. just north of Canterbury in Ingersoll. The site is now an apartment building. He held a variety of jobs in Ingersoll. He worked as a clerk for his cousins Wilson Bros. store in 1905, worked for the Ingersoll Telephone Co. in 1910 and was a clerk for Nagle and Mills Tailors. He left for Edmonton to work as a salesman in a hardware store according to the 1916 Alberta census. His wife and nine-year-old daughter were with him. The western Canada experiment did not last long as the 1920 census locates them in Detroit. There is some confusion with this time line as the 1920 census reports that they emigrated to Detroit in 1915 where as the 1916 Alberta census had the family still in Edmonton. By 1920 he had worked as the hardware department manager of the Arcade Hardware Store at 4747 West Warren St in Detroit. He and wife Elva would own the store by 1930 and both would be working in it until his 1950 death. By the 1950 census he had his first papers for application for citizenship. Whether he finished the process is unknown to me.

Charles lived in Rosedale in Toronto while working at the Royal Bank. War duties called and he went off to war in late Dec. 1915. He had some experience as a member of the Queens Own Rifles militia in Toronto. There is some confusion in Charles' attestation papers. It is noted that his parents were American born, while in fact, both were born in Dereham and W Oxford townships.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook, Ann street, received official word that their son, Charles, had been wounded severely and was admitted to Boulogne Hospital. Pte. Cook went over with the 168th Battalion. His home friends will hope for encouraging news of his condition.

Daughter of Charles Lancelot Cooke and Florence Welford

Joan 11/21/1919 to 11/26/2013

At 94 years old, Joan was full of life and love, bringing joy to all she met up to her last moments when she died suddenly from complications from surgery.

Joan was born to Charles and Florence Cooke in Toronto, Canada and spent the first five years of life in her native country, and then she and her family migrated to Detroit, Michigan.

Joan studied at Wheaton College in Illinois. A favorite memory of those college days was sitting in the library across the table from Billy Graham. At some point in her young life, she learned to fly and received her pilot's license. After college, she enlisted in the United States Coast Guard, spending time in Florida and California. When her stint with the USCG was over, she went back to Detroit where she eventually met and married John Jackson. They settled in Farmington, Michigan and had daughter, Debbie and thirteen months later, daughter, Denise.

During her working career, she worked for several food brokers and spent quite a bit of time on the road throughout Michigan and Ohio. In 1979, Joan packed up and moved to California, eventually settling in Auburn. Joan loved her black BSA bicycle and was often seen riding every chance she had. She also had a love of nature and gardening. To the end, she was so enamored by her patio garden.

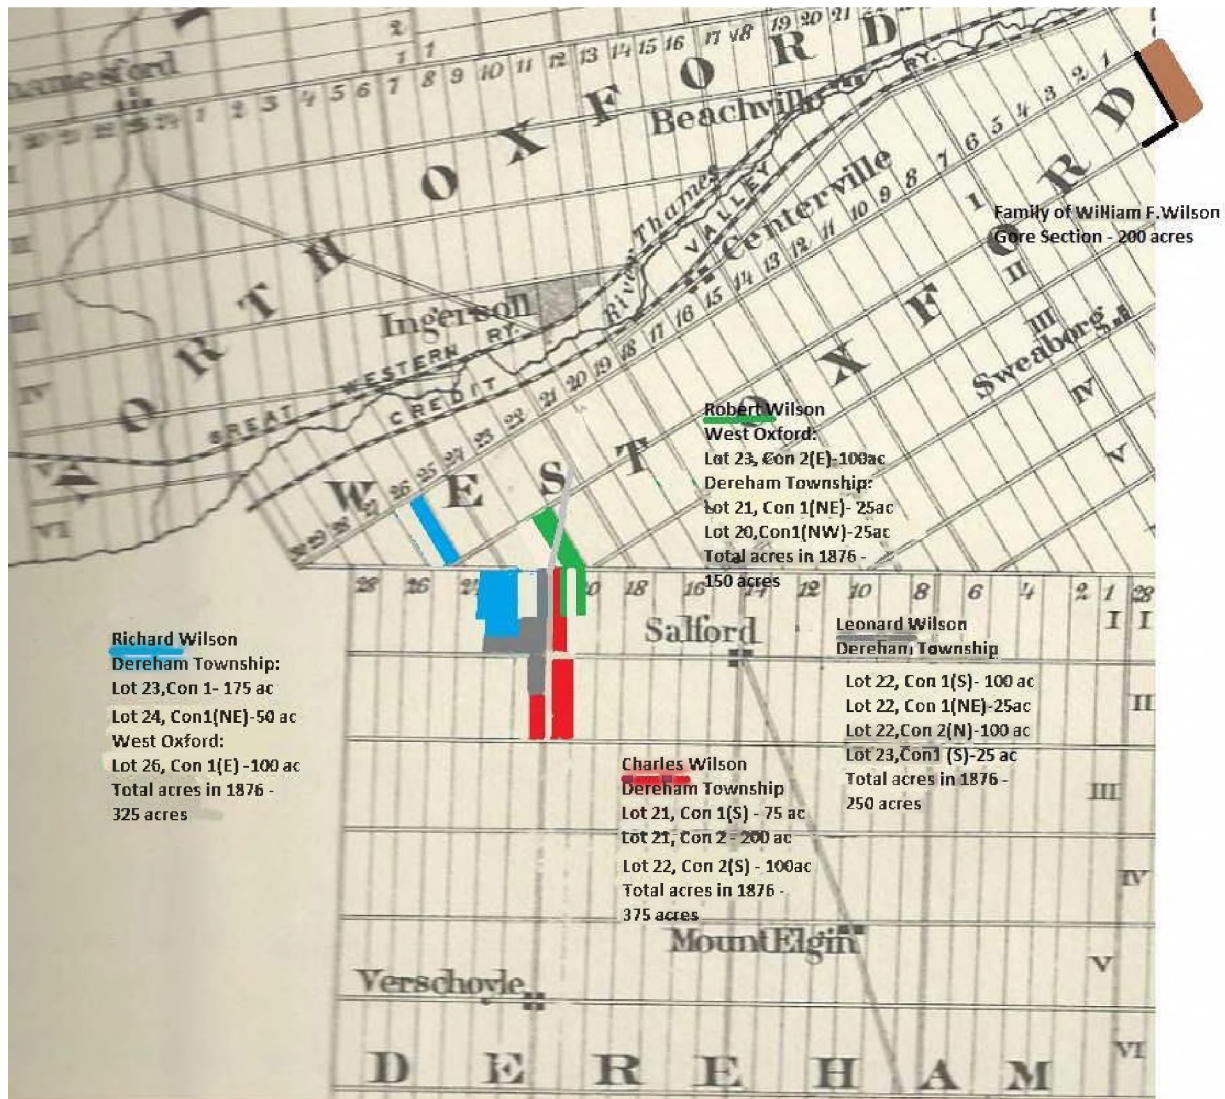

Joan was a member of Auburn's St. Luke's Episcopal Church and Daughter of the King. Joan will be greatly missed for her loving, kind and funny personality. She leaves behind to mourn her, daughters Debbie and Denise (Bud); granddaughters: Yvonne (Clayton), Genise (Jason), Janelle (Tyler), Rebekkah; and great-grandchildren: Cameron, Kevin, Jaylah, Jackson and Harper. She also leaves behind her beloved Gingerboy.

As a note: Charles Wilson and Eliza Elliott's second and fourth children John (1847 -1851) and Mary (1849-1851) died within 10 days of each other. This was not uncommon to have typhus, diphtheria, measles or other diseases killing several family members over a few days. Because these children were "removed" or transferred to Ingersoll Rural Cemetery on April 6, 1867, (IRC index), along with several more Elliott's, Seldon's and Prouse's from the family cemetery, no record was kept of cause of death.

THE NANCEKIVELL FAMILY REUNION

The newspaper headlines read: OVER ONE HUNDRED AT REUNION
HELD ON JULY 25, 1912.

The first annual reunion of the Nancekivell family was held on Thursday, July 25th, at "Broadview" the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Nancekivell, Dereham, under the most favourable circumstances. The day was ideal for such an outing and guests to the number of one hundred and fifteen made merry 'round the festive board.

Dinner was served from twelve to one o'clock on the spacious lawn and the seasonable delicacies were provided in abundance.

The grounds, surrounding the house, were beautifully decorated with red, white, and blue bunting and flags.

After dinner, when all had been fully satisfied, the large gathering was grouped in front of the residence where a photograph was taken by Mr. H. Foster of Ingersoll.

Games and amusement of various kinds were indulged in by young and old. One feature of the day was a game of baseball between the bachelors and the benedicts, in which contest, the benedicts came off victorious by the score of 14-0.

During the day, Dr. C. J. Karn of Berlin was called to the chair and after congratulating the large assembly on the success on this, their first reunion, dispatched the business of the day. Mrs. Roy Jenvey of Ingersoll was appointed Secretary of the reunion, and it was decided to hold next year's reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Nancekivell, Woodstock, the date to be decided later by the committee.

Lunch was served again at six o'clock, and this was none the less enjoyed for the hearty dinner which had preceeded it.

The oldest person on the grounds was Mrs. Mary Jane McLeod of Stratford, who is the oldest of the family of four, all of whom were present- Mrs. Fanny Karn and Mrs. John Karn of Woodstock, and Reuben Nancekivell of Dereham.

The guests were present from Palestine, Texas; Los Angeles, Calif.; Toronto, Omagh, London, Berlin, Brooksdale, Stratford, Woodstock, Ingersoll, Embro, Foldens, Salford, and Mt. Elgin.

With grounds and home decorated in red, white, and blue bunting, the first annual reunion of the Nancekivell family was held July 25, 1912 at "Broadview", the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Nancekivell, Dereham, under the most favourable circumstances, a local newspaper reports. The day was ideal for such an outing and 115 guests made merry 'round the festive board. Dr. J. W. Karn of Berlin (Kitchener) was Chairman with Mrs. Roy Jenvey as Secretary assisted by Mrs. Bert Nancekivell. Planning Committee was J.G. Karn, John Nancekivell, and Reuben Nancekivell.

A baseball game between bachelors and benedicts saw a 14-0 victory for the latter. Guests came from as far away as Texas and California and all signed the guest book.

Picnics held through the years drew about a hundred people each year. Food, then as now, played a major role in the festivities. While the tempting meals were being enjoyed, music was furnished by a Victrola.

In 1912, expenses included oranges and bananas for prizes and in 1913 expenses included dish rental of $1.72 and the hiring of Mrs. Rolfe to wash the dishes for $2.00.

In 1916, a novelty race, in the form of rooster chasing, was introduced for the men and won by Norman Thornton. A bantam contest for the ladies was won by Mrs. H.G Mayberry.

In 1929, near the onset of the Great Depression, the family met at Southside Park, Woodstock.

In 1931, the program included a "Whistling Race."

It has been thirty-four months since Covid led me to this journey of connection to my family. Traipsing through the past has enriched me with knowledge of where I was born and raised in Oxford County. I also understand more about my extended ancestral family and the lives they led. I wish to thank the following people and organizations that put up with what may have seemed as unending requests and constant badgering. I apologize to those I have missed. This project is as much yours as mine. Take a bow.
