THINGS WE DID

Annona

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

The Latin word "Annona" has been the name of our yearbook since 1964 but few of us know its meaning. "Annona" means one's yearly produce or, in some cases, means of subsistence. The Annona is Glendale's record of our yearly produce: our hopes and achievements, our successes and failures. It is a remembering of our various means of subsistence: our activities, classes, and sports but, most of all, our friends: people, individuals, and the times we have had with them, fun times and growing times.

Annona -- yearly produce, means of subsistence -- a time to remember, to reflect, and to dream.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

This year is no different from other years as I sit down to write a few words for the ANNONA. The staff and its advisors are hard at work putting together the word and photograph reminders of the past. The graduates are looking towards new horizons that beckon them to the world of new educational opportunities or the work-world's challenges. The papers are writing about the insincerity of one generation for another.

These are all healthy signs that youth is as restless as ever. They are ready to face the challenges of the future.

As usual, the school is changing to meet the new educational goals. Students, too, must learn to shoulder the responsibilities that go with changes. Teams have changed, but the spirit has carried on to new heights of success. Students have learned to recognize a true effort or achievement.

Now, for the graduate, the years of Glendale will recede like the person

"He left the past year's dwelling for the new,
Stole with soft step its shining archway through,
Built up its idle door,
Stretched in his last found home, and knew the old no more --."

Except as the ANNONA becomes "his harvest of memories!"

VICE-PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

It is with pleasure that I offer my congratulations to the supervising teachers, the editors, and all those who have assisted in any way in publishing this edition of the ANNONA.

This past year has been a successful one for our basketball teams with three W. O. S. S. A. championships. I am sure that the students who have participated in the many other Glendale activities have gained just as much as those who won the championships. As this is written, the students are busy preparing for Open House, the semi-formal, and the music concert; and I know that these events will be just as outstanding as those in the past.

This year at Glendale we are changing to the new Credit System. We hope that this will give you a greater opportunity to select courses that are suited to your interests, abilities and career ambitions.

In conclusion I would like to congratulate all the graduates. The entire staff will look forward with pride to seeing you at Commencement this fall.

STUDENT COUNCIL

This year's Student Council consisted of:
 Prime Minister . . . . . Bob Verhaverbeke
 Deputy Prime Minister . . . Pat Marchuk
 Treasurer . . . . . Kathy Howey
 Secretary . . . . . Betty Coulthard
 Minister of Social Affairs
 . . . . . Dave Mitchell
 Minister Without Portfolio
 . . . . . Mike Belcher

STUDENT COUNCIL REPORT

On behalf of the Student Council I would like to thank everyone who has helped to make the activities this year very successful and prosperous, activities which included a very successful chocolate bar campaign.

The annual Winter Carnival was very active with everyone taking part in the various events such as the powderpuff football game, three-legged race, sliding object race, and many others.

On May 6 we had our annual semi-formal which, we are happy to report, was quite successful. Thanks to the hard work of Lee-Anne Ghent, Kim Parrott, and Dave Mitchell, we were able to complete the decorations. I would like to thank all the people who helped to make the semi a great success. The theme was "THE LAND OF THE RISING SUN" and the group that played was "ROCKJAM FOLLIES".

This year's Student Council is proud to announce that this school now has a constitution, thanks to the efforts of Peg Andrews and Janice Wolfe.

The Athletic Society expanded its role in the school as it started to handle the management of the canteen and contributed a great amount to activities in the school. It also sponsored a benefit basketball game for the Community Centre, with the California Cuties as the main attraction.

Again Glendale was very fortunate to have a successful year in sports. We acquired nine pennants in various sports and activities, setting a record for the school. For the second year in a row, we hosted the W. O. S. S. A. basketball finals at Glendale. The senior final saw the Griffs against the Westminster Wildcats. Of course, the Green Machine came through, winning the W. O. S. S. A. title for the third straight year.

The Council also purchased material for making sweat pants and tops for the basketball teams and new cheerleading outfits. Plans have also been made to buy a tape deck and speakers for the library, to be used for both education and entertainment. We are also donating $100 to the Community Centre.

We would like to thank Mr. Ramsey, Advisor and Mr. Black, Bookkeeper for all the assistance that they have given us during the past year. We would also like to thank the office staff and Mr. McPherson and Mr. Ross for their great co-operation during the year.

As I look back over the year I realize that there were many things which I wanted to do for the school but I was not able to because there was not enough time. I have learned a lot about people, and it has been an honour and a great experience to be the P. M. of Glendale High School.

Bob Verhaverbeke --- Prime Minister

This year's chess club had a very good year. Three players were sent to the Oxford Tournament and they came in second overall, missing the first team by only one game. However they went on and won the Tri-county championship. I certainly hope that the club will produce equally good players in future years.

Glendale's senior volleyball team had a fairly successful season. During the regular season, their win-loss record was about even, having defeated some of the top teams. At the Oxford-Elgin Championships, they were eliminated during the third round of play, after having given a good account of themselves. Provided training begins earlier, they stand a good chance of bringing honour to Glendale next year.

Once again, the female counterparts of the Griffins added to Glendale's impressive collection of pennants. They captured the Oxford-Elgin championship easily and went on to win their fifth straight W.O.S.S.A. title. These girls have played together since Grade 9 and have completely overpowered the local girls' league ever since.

This year, though, we are losing several of our team members, especially some starters. However, things look good for next year, with several returning and some juniors moving up.

What more can we say about these girls? They worked hard, faced competition, and came out winners. What more can one ask?

P. S. At the awards assembly in June, Lee-Anne Ghent was named Glendale's female athlete of the year.

Congratulations, Lee!

JUNIOR GIRLS' BASKETBALL

This year's team had a better year than last, winning one more game. Our coach, Miss Flavell, was new in the business, but the team broke her in nicely. The team will be losing some of its greats this year, but they will move on up to give the senior team a gleam of hope. The mighty hand of thanks reaches down from the sky to congratulate Miss Flavell for fine effort in coaching the team.

There is always the hope that next year's team will do better, so. . . Good Luck.

MIDGET BOYS' BASKETBALL

A third boys' basketball team from Glendale competed for an Oxford-Elgin championship this year. Although the team was not successful in this endeavour, the boys got a great deal of basketball experience. This experience will provide a strong base on which a sound junior team will be built next year.

The team played in the Oxford division, competing against teams from Ingersoll, W. C. I., C. A. S. S., and Annandale. The Griffis ended up in first place, losing only one game to the W. C. I. Midget Red Devils.

The Midget Griffis also played in a number of exhibition games and in the Ingersoll Blue and White Tournament. The team, although not always winners, was a team that all of Glendale could be proud of, both on and off the court.

1971-1972 SOCCER TEAM

This year's edition of the soccer Griffins had a very successful season. They won four games and lost two. This record allowed them to finish in second place in the Oxford division, two points behind the eventual Oxford-Elgin champion Ingersoll Blue Bombers. Only one member of this year's team graduates this year so it is hoped that next year's team will make an even stronger showing.

Once again, under the flawless supervision of Mr. Coyle, the junior Griffins had a tremendous season. We did very well in our pre-season exhibition games, but then, for some unknown reason, we had a mid-season slump, having a won 2 - lost 3 record at one point. At Christmas we travelled to the University of Guelph's invitational tournament where we lost our first game to J. F. Ross, the eventual champions. The following day we won two games and the consolation title. Although we did not fare as we would have liked, we gained much experience and had a good time.

Just after Christmas we lost two league games and things were looking down. Our pride at stake, we began to win, and, by the end of the schedule, we were in second place. Many fans travelled with the team to C. A. S. S. for the play-off game. We were behind for most of the game but in the end, we won by one point.

The next night we played Parkside for the Oxford-Elgin trophy. Although events were not as exciting as the previous night, we won the game and the pennant, sending us to the W. O. S. S. A. "AA" play-offs for the second year in a row.

In our first game we easily coasted by Medway and into the semi-final. The next morning we downed Strathroy Northern, putting us into the final against Stratford Central. Being tense at the beginning of the game, we fell behind by 12 points at the half. The partisan fans stayed behind us and all of a sudden, things came together for us. We eventually won by three points, finishing the season with 14 consecutive wins and an overall record of 24 wins and 4 losses.

The junior basketball Griffins would like to thank all the students and teachers for their support throughout the season. We would also like to thank the cheerleaders who, as always, cheered us on to victory. Especially, Mr. Coyle is to be thanked for his diligent efforts to mold us into a championship team.

Bob Horvath and George Gyulveszi will be the only two players returning next year, but several midgets and other young players should make next year's team a good one. For the rest of us, we can only hope to make the senior team.

SENIOR BOYS' BASKETBALL

LEFT TO RIGHT: Dennis Fairall, Ron Foris, Gary Schwyer, Dave Lamoure, Randy Belore, Boyd Armstrong, Steve Horvath, Manager; Mr. B. O'Rourke, Coach; Bill Blake, Manager; Barry Atkinson, Dave Demaree, Rick Miggins, Rod Carle, Gary Nevill, Rick Jacob.

The 1971-'72 Glendale Senior Griffins once again rose to the heights of the previous Griffin basketball squads. Their overall record was an awesome 32-3 as they won three championships and were within five points of gaining the Ontario Goldenball semi-finals at the University of Western Ontario's Alumni Hall.

En route to their fifth consecutive Oxford-Elgin pennant they ran up 12 straight league victories and then polished off the W. C. I. Red Devils 67-40 in the semi-final and Parkside Collegiate 65-45 in the final.

Glendale won the W. O. S. S. A. "AA" crown for the third straight time (being the first team in 20 years to do so), walloping Stratford Central 97-45 in the quarter-final, Beal Raiders of London 62-39 in the semi-final, and playing inspired and gusty basketball to defeat the heir-apparent Westminster Wildcats of London 70-61 before a packed and partisan crowd in the Griffin auditorium.

Not enough can be said of the four graduating seniors, Rick Jacob, Dennis Fairall, Rick Miggins, and Gary Nevill, but the court picture for the Griffins looks pretty rosy in the future with 9 players returning. Rick Jacob won three all-star berths - berths which he richly deserved - as the 6'4" centre averaged 20 rebounds and 23 points per game. He gained all-star recognition at the Jay-Cee Invitational in Chatham before Christmas at the University of Western Ontario's Purple and White Invitational at Christmas, and the Ontario Goldenball Tournament in March at U. W. O.

Glendale unveiled 6'11" Barry Atkinson who grew in status as the season progressed. Gary Schwyer became a slick ball-handling guard who, with Rod Carle, will captain next year's Griffin squad. Other integral members of the squad who will be returning next year are Bob Verhaverbeke, Ron Foris, Randy Belore, Boyd Armstrong, Dave Demaree, Dave Lamoure, Steve Horvath, and Bill Blake.

Once again, appreciation to Coach O'Rourke whose guidance and leadership provided the margin of victory in many of our games.

A THOUGHT

Have you ever wondered if man has been created by some power greater than man's mental capacity to imagine and each person on the earth is really only a robot of this superior one? That maybe all men are the same and are created equal only are different in appearance to each other. This would mean that prejudice is a stupid, childish hoax and that there is no reason for it at all.

What if all men were preprogrammed by this superior being and that there is no such thing as fate and horoscopes? Then people would not have any special identity and when they thought that they were doing as they wished, really it has already been predestined for them. How would mankind react to such a feeling if he found out that he isn't really an individual but just the same as all the rest? Just a thought to think about.

Rick Turnbull 5A-12A

RAINDROPS

Out of the very depths of the sky
By thousands and thousands we came.
Past the sun and the clouds we fly
Knowing soon we will disappear.

Nearer and nearer we come to the earth.
It seems a shame, you know,
That now so very near our birth
Our time on earth is done.

Through the sky my friends are scattered
As towards earth we hurl, and hit
Our bodies shattered.
Our life and purpose done.

It seems a shame to waste such grace
And beauty here on earth
When we all know there is a place
Where God did give us birth.

Joanne McClintock 5A-12C

THE TREE

There she stands,
A once majestic queen;
Her limbs now bent with age,
And marked with time.

No longer does her royal blood
Flow relentlessly through;
Her body ravished with disease
And her skin dry and dead.

The end is near;
Her life has spanned countless eons,
She has been mother to generations;
There she stands, a dying queen.

Brian Berenz

Had me a dog
She was a steady friend
Whenever I needed one
She'd help me pretend.

Had me a cat
My own personal one
We'd never have a fight
Because she and I were one.

Had me a love
But we had a big fight
Now I only have
Two friends in my life.

SOLITARY PINE

Frosty windswept pine, towering above me,
Piercing my senses with your solitary image,
My spirit soars above your golden sunlit tip.
To the eternal blue beyond.

Mary Raudssus

Winter enfolds the troubled

LIFE REVISITED #1

the poor girl
goes her lonely way down the street in the poorer part of town

a wistful glance
at the group of guys and girls outside of the movies

she keeps walking on past the laughing girls flirting with the boys

she keeps walking
past the drunken slobs who are staggering down
the street and she does keep walking

and she is going to make it yet

yes
she made it

do not think of the fun
others are having because you cannot be there

you do not want that kind of life
no
you don't you must keep walking

do not turn back it will be hard but
keep walking

B. R. Bramwell

She moved silently
Nobody noticed
She moved again
And still nobody noticed
She looked at the bleak white walls
And wished somebody would notice
She wanted to jump and shout
And say: "Let me go home!"
Then someone would notice
But they would take her
And lock her away
They would torment her
Until she agreed to play her role again
She must remain
Mad, insane
Until They decided she could go
Go home to the ones she loved
Home to where she would be loved
Home to where she would no longer
Have to be crazy.

Laurie Dunlop

death
the end
is it worse
or better
the end
or the beginning

a second life
without mistake
without feeling
without the pleasures of life
without the pains

is it nothing at all darkness limbo
an eternity of non-existence

or is it heaven
where angels fly
God rules
and streets are paved with gold.

TOYS

Dreams and dreams and dreams ago,
To a life, not ours but theirs,
To a life with suffering, pain and grief,
To a life where security could not be found,
To a life we say, but is it living,
Or an ever-ending night disturbed only
By visions of bombs, shots and death?

And there they stand, row on row,
Frozen faces on plastic heads,
Creating dreams that symbolize... life?
How can we know suffering,
How can we know grief
How can we know pain
Must we remember the dead this way?
Why... ?

Here I stand, not knowing.
Trying to care but not knowing how.
Here I stand living, but afraid,
We laugh at death, their suffering unreal
But puzzled... I stand.

Deaf Lightning
communicating with flashes of light.

Blind Thunder
doesn't see it.
Communicates with ominous rumblings.

ENGLISH?

What is a play?
An entertaining piece.
A novel?
An enjoyable melody of words.
The short story?
A condensation of the latter.
And a poem?
A beautiful creativity.
Essays?
A refreshing opinion.
Is all this English?
Yes, unfortunately!

THEME ON LUNCH

Hustle, bustle, elbow muscle
Smash'em, crash'em, spring that locker
To stop and look may be a folly
A second wasted may not make you
First in Line.

Slam'em, hammer'em, don't be shy
You only live once; shift to high Hit'em low and hit'em high Break right through that giant horde
And if you're quick, will be your reward
First in Line.

Your actions will be excused if only
You admit: "I'm in grade nine,"
Well, he's just a kid, they'll say
Maybe with age he'll find other ways to be
First in Line.

Though you be swung at, sworn at, scorned at fear not for courtesy's for the meek
The key to your success lies on your total rudeness
Your actions will serve you well in the outside world where you will claw and kill and care not for others as long as you're
First in Line.

Jim Jones 5A-12B

CONTRAST

It rained that day
For all the world to see.
A paradoxical rainbow hung poised over the street;
That evening, waning with the sunset,
Moulding onto the clouds.
Its beauty went unnoticed
The splendor unrivaled, but unveiled
Slowly fading into another oblivion.

Below all eyes are earthward bound;
Searching----
Unheedingly groping---- Relentlessly looking for an individual little paradise.
Shunning neighbours, Disillusioning friends--then finding emotion also lacking,
Excuses prevail--not fulfilling heart-felt reasons.
Nothing else important; all over one's head.
Isn't life wonderful!

The prism of colours disappearing:
Human nature paying its price.

Anne Weisz

THE BETTER HALF

Canada, you're proud
You stand up for equality
But take away our Louis Riel
Just think what would be left for thee.

Canada, you're strong
You work together for liberty
But take away your John A.
Just think what would be left for thee.

Canada, you shine
From coast to coast for all to see
But take away your Edison
Just think what would be left for thee.

Canada, you're heard
You ring out our identity
But take away our Mr. Bell
Just think what would be left for thee.

Canada, you're home
The home for many races
You breed and grow and die
A land of many faces.

what I sought
was what I thought millions of miles away

around and around I sway
unheeding of time and space

my soul begins the race
without deception

my mind begins the conception of life and love
of mankind and the dove

I no longer want to think my mind is on the brink
I back away

unable to stay unable to say
I have found the answer.

Christian James

THE CYCLE

I have found a primitive life.
I without a brain
And no knife
Just the gentle rain.

I walk into an unknown cave
Why am I so brave
Do I make a decision
Without any precision?

I kill an animal
And tear off its flesh
This is not normal
Eating it when it is fresh.

Everything is reversed
And not rehearsed
I do every thing to survive
And keep alive.

Suddenly the rain stops
And the animals die
I begin to make crops
As time passes by.

This is familiar
To me
And very similar
To as far as I can see.

In many ways
We are not far from those days
Maybe we will return;
Does it mean we will burn?

Bob Verhaverbeke

BETWEEN THE COVERS

The day before yesterday
Or was it tomorrow -
I found my diary
                                buried deep in childhood.

Memories. . . .
memories lost
between worn covers and pressed roses
of school days that lingered -- in burdens
                                of learning
Of autographs scribbled down by friends
                                now resting --
in questions, unanswered.
Yes, we knew it all. . .
Then --
Reality written in code
Dreams hidden between words Insane messages written to me-- by me
For once. . . .
I thought I could conquer
the world.
(How foolish of me
To have thought that.)

Patty Hawkins

I STOP TO WATCH THE TEENAGE SOAP OPERA

In the middle of my life I stop to watch
The teenage soap opera.
All of a sudden it struck me back,
The foolishness of it all.

We are young and I am too, for me,
It's time to live while I can.
But before my eyes I see my friends,
Especially the girls and even the boys,
Playing the parts of a tear-jerker soap opera.
They cry, they moan, they do not laugh.
But I say stop, it's time to live, for we are young Ignoring my call they go on dramatically,
Thinking serious about the wrong things, and being Torn apart by their Peyton Place.
Not me, I'm young and to me I can only try,
Not to be a character in a melodrama.
Maybe I am, but who's to say, I want to laugh,
Be happy and proud of life.
From my eyes no tears shall fall to that bucket,
And my heart shall be full of
The vigour and joy of life
No time to worry
No time to worry. . . .

Brian Stirling

SPIRIT OF THE WORLD

A lifetime of things to be done
And yet - I sit here,
Doing nothing,
Lost in thought.
The everyday problems seem miles away
While I think - or daydream, as some say.

Perhaps it is my spirit
Which causes me to do things like this;
My spirit, locked up inside
While I go about my everyday tasks;
Will I never be free
To let my spirit flee?

How I long to live and let live,
To go my merry way,
Caring about others and helping them
But not restricting myself to anything;
To leave my home,
To go away and roam.

But - the Leader says -
What about your job?
What about your earthly duty?
What about our careful plans for the future?
I mustn't disobey any rule,
I mustn't make myself a fool.

Thus, I must face life -
I just do as everyone does,
I must follow the man-made rule,
I must conform;
No I cannot be free,
No, my spirit may not flee.

B. R. Bramwell

BROKEN

Alone and single among the millions
A crystal flake is lost bitter Without warmth from the piercing light,
Unable to see or understand
It slowly sinks beneath its glory.
