

Annona (1960-2010)

The Annona (later Reflections and Glendale High School Yearbook) was published by Glendale High School, which opened officially in 1960. The first Annona was published the same year. Although the yearbook continued publication into the 2000s, as of 2026 its status is unclear.

Glendale High School chronology:

- 1959-00-00 – school building completed; Annandale begins using building for some classes
- 1960-03-07 – Glendale High School (GHS) officially opens, serving grade levels 9-13
- 1976-10-18 – to accommodate growing enrollment, GHS officially opens its new addition
- 1988-06-00 – per plans announced in 1984, the Province retires Grade 13 and effective in the fall replaces it with the “OAC” year
- 1993-05-19 – the Oxford County Board of Education announces that, effective Fall 1995, GHS will serve Grades 10-12 plus OAC levels while Annandale School will serve Grades 7-9
- 2003-06-00 – per plans announced years earlier, the Province retires the OAC curriculum; henceforth all public secondary schools follow a four-year program (Grades 9-12)
- 2010-09-00 – the former Annandale Senior Public School reopens as Annandale Public School, serving elementary and intermediate grades while GHS (now the only public high school in Tillsonburg) begins serving Grades 9-12
